COUNTY CITIZENS PLAN FIGHT TO ELECT ANDERSON

Organization of Non-Partisan Committee for Campaign of Prosecuting Attorney Considered.

GAMBLERS SEEK TO DEFEAT HIM

Part of Democratic Machine Is Against Him Because of His Policy of Law Enforcement.

Organization of a non-partisan committee to work for the re-election of Prosecuting Attorney C. Arthur Anderson of St. Louis County now in the County Hospital as a result of a murderous assault made on him Oct. 9, is under consideration by prominent residents of the County.

It is planned that the committee, organized to office on his return to law enforcement and as the community's answer to the desperate attempt that was made on Anderson's life, obviously because of his successful prosecution of one of the kidnapers of Dr. Isaac D. Kelley.

Because of the broken leg and the injuries which Anderson received when his automobile was deliberately forced off the highway into a ditch in St. Louis County, it is likely that he will be out of the hospital before election day, which is Nov. 6, and of course will not be able to conduct the campaign.

Elected Two Years Ago. Anderson, a Democrat, was first elected two years ago. The County has been notably heavily Republican for many years and the election of Anderson and some other Democratic county officials has attributed to the Roosevelt landslide. Out of a total vote of 10,000, Anderson's majority over the Republican opponent, Harry C. Carter, was 5150.

Anderson has observed that a slight shift of voters back to the support of large numbers of Democrats who put law enforcement in office.

Anderson's supporters are relying heavily on the large independent vote of the County which in the past elections has resulted in a narrow margin. In the election of two years ago, for instance, Anderson was elected by a majority of 5150, the Republican candidate for Sheriff, Phil G. Deussen, was elected by a majority of 4850.

In the primary this year Republican candidates for non-partisan Prosecuting Attorney received 248 more votes than did the Democratic candidates. The nominees, Anderson, Democrat, and Robert S. Denny, Republican—won easily in their respective tickets. Out of a total of 20,000 Democratic votes Anderson received 10,046 and out of 2000 Republican votes Denny had 1812. In the primary Denny received 2079 more votes than did Anderson.

Democratic politicians say that Anderson's law enforcement policy has alienated a section of the Democratic county political organization that has been allied with the dog racing tracks and gambling houses and that this may work against his re-election. As soon as the election of Anderson turned a new leaf in the politics of the county and dog track operators that he is allowed to run their illegal business. He has steadfastly refused to countenance the re-opening of these places.

Kidnaping Prosecutions. One of the biggest tasks of the Prosecuting Attorney's office during Anderson's incumbency has been the prosecution of persons charged with the kidnaping for the trial last month a jury returned a verdict of guilty in the case of the kidnapers of Dr. Isaac D. Kelley. Anderson had a 20 years in the penitentiary. Anderson had the charge of this prosecution.

Others under indictment for the kidnaping—Bart Davitt and Paul McDonald, the latter a convicted felon—will go on trial Nov. 19. One of the other defendants, Mrs. Nellie Tipton Muench, was tried last January, which is the expiration of Anderson's present term.

One of the defendants, John C. Brown, a Negro, confessed that he was held captive on the kidnaping for 30 hours after the kidnaping in April, 1931, and that Brown, Davitt and McDonald were among his captors. Johnson was murdered by machine-guns on Oct. 12 after his release on bail.

NO CHANGE IN CONDITION OF PROSECUTOR ANDERSON

"Infection in Fractured Leg Is Still Active," Attending Surgeon Reports. There was no change today in the condition of Prosecuting Attorney C. Arthur Anderson of St. Louis County, who is under treatment at County Hospital for injuries suffered in a murderous assault Oct. 9. "The infection in the fractured left leg is still active," said the attending surgeon. "We are doing everything we can to control it. Naturally he has a varying fever, sometimes of 1 degree or more, but sometimes his temperature is normal. His condition is serious but not critical."

Garner has succeeded in avoiding a trip to Washington to visit President Roosevelt and discuss the political situation. The Texas said if the "President didn't mind" he would "just as soon" stay at Uvalde, hunting and fishing until Congress meets Jan. 3. ## TREASURY ORDERS 100 CORPORATIONS TO PAY BACK TAXES

Among the Assessments Is One for $17,000,000 Against Fisher Brothers' Holding Company.

PENALTIES LEVIED ON MANY FIRMS

Some Concerns, in Their Replies, Have Challenged Constitutionality of This Procedure.

(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The Treasury has notified about 100 corporations that they owe the Government many millions of dollars in deficient taxes, it was disclosed yesterday.

A tax deficiency of $17,199,797 was shown to have been assessed against Fisher & Co. of Detroit, holding concern for investments of the six Fisher brothers, long powerful figures in the automobile industry.

Aiming particularly to curb alleged illegal transfer of profits to surplus to avoid surtax payments by stockholders, the Treasury has levied on 100 other companies penalties of 50 per cent of net income for the years concerned.

About 50 of the companies have replied, denying the allegations and in many instances challenging the constitutionality of the penalty provision, contending it is an executive usurpation of judicial power.

The holdings of many wealthy persons and families throughout the country are included among those from which the Government is seeking to exact penalties. In many instances individual identity is cloaked by the corporation.

Some of Firms on List. Among those receiving notices is the Matson Securities Co. of San Francisco, holding large interests in the Matson Navigation Co. and in various Hawaiian development enterprises. A total deficiency of $874,377 is sought for 1930.

Assessments aggregating $100,788 have been placed against William Cecil B. de Mille. Both are Hollywood moving picture producers.

Rands, Inc., holding company of W. C. Rands, Detroit, a figure in the Motor Products Corporation, was assessed $1,047,999 for 1927-1930, inclusive.

The Delaware-Olmsted Co. of Wilmington, Del., indirectly holding large investments in the Empire Power Corporation and the Long Island Lighting Co., was assessed $1,464,877 for 1929.

Under the revenue law "the fact that any corporation is a mere holding or investment company or that the gains or profits are permitted to accumulate beyond the reasonable needs of the business shall be prima facie evidence of a purpose to escape the surtax."

The Fisher Charges. Fisher & Co. was assessed $13,078,319 for 1930 and $4,121,478 for 1929, most of these amounts consisting of 50 per cent penalties.

The Government charges that the company sold $17,030 shares of General Motors stock in 1930 at a profit of $2,352,462. The company, through its counsel, Newton D. Baker, has said that it sold only 479,650 shares, with a profit of $9,125,725.

Various other stock transactions and large real estate deals by various subsidiary companies figure in the Government's claim.

Fisher & Co. was formed in 1924 by six brothers, who put into it initially 415,600 shares of General Motors common stock. The brothers—Fred J., Charles T., William A., Lawrence P., Edward F., and Alfred J. Fisher—were closely associated with John J. Raskob in the growth of the automobile concern in subsequent years.

The Treasury has emphasized that its program is not intended to embarrass business corporations who wish to lay by funds against actual future needs or contingencies.

Instead, officials said, it is part of a gradual attempt to tighten up the application of revenue laws which has been given special impetus by emergency needs created by the depression.

She Pleads Not Guilty As Hunt for Her Fugitive Husband Centers in Indianapolis.

VICTIM HELPING MRS. ROBINSON

Quoted As Saying Abductor's Mate Pleaded for Her Life When He Threatened to Kill Her.

(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press.) LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 18.—Mrs. Frances A. Robinson, mother of a 5-year-old child, was in the Jefferson County Jail today, in default of $50,000 bail, charged with aiding her husband, the missing Thomas H. Robinson Jr. of Nashville, in kidnaping Mrs. Alice Stoll.

Her father-in-law, Thomas H. Robinson Sr., was under a similar bond in Nashville, Tenn., charged with a part in the crime.

Mrs. Robinson occupied an unusual position as a defendant in the kidnaping case. The rescued victim and her influential family openly have befriended her cause. Mrs. Stoll frankly termed her a "protector" while she was imprisoned for six days in Indianapolis.

Mrs. Robinson was headed for the Stoll home in Louisville in an automobile with the kidnaped woman on Tuesday night when Federal agents arrested her at Scottsboro, Ind.

It was through her delivery of the $50,000 ransom money demanded by her husband that the victim eventually was returned.

Federal agents admitted Mrs. Robinson refused to accompany her husband when he fled with the ransom money. But the law provides a stiff penalty—possibly death—if she is convicted under the Cochran law recently passed by Congress.

Says Kidnaping Threatened Wife. A new version of what happened in Indianapolis when Robinson fled with most of the ransom money from the hideaway where he had kept Mrs. Stoll captive was disclosed today by Director of Safety Dunlap Wakefield of Louisville.

The story, given authorities by Mrs. Stoll and Mrs. Robinson, portrayed the kidnaping wife as bravely saying the wrath of her husband in order to win the freedom of the victim.

"Robinson, shortly after his wife arrived in the Indianapolis apartment with the $50,000 ransom, threatened to leave and take Mrs. Stoll with him," said Wakefield. "He also demanded that Mrs. Robinson accompany him."

"Mrs. Robinson protested and the kidnaping became enraged. He threatened his wife and also threatened the life of Mrs. Stoll. He said they would go with him, he would tie up Mrs. Stoll and leave her in a closet in the apartment."

Left $500 of Ransom With Her. "Mrs. Robinson pleaded with him, according to Mrs. Stoll and Mrs. Robinson, and the kidnaping finally decided to leave alone. He gave Mrs. Robinson $500 from the ransom sum and left in the same Ford car as he used in the kidnaping. It bore the Illinois license 331-700."

"Shortly afterwards, Mrs. Stoll telephoned her home in Louisville from the home of the Rev. E. Arnold Clegg, where Mrs. Robinson took her after Robinson had fled."

Mrs. Stoll's pledge to keep silent about her captivity lapsed yesterday afternoon. Most of what she told is known to authorities alone. But it was revealed she was left bound and gagged several times.

"She thought she was surely going to die a couple of times," her husband, Berry V. Stoll, vice-president of the Stoll Oil Refining Co., disclosed.

To Ask for Death Penalty. United States Attorney Sparks said on the fact before him he would "insist upon the death penalty" for Robinson.

WOMAN CYCLIST KILLED IN FALL ON ROXY STAGE

Mary de Phil Misses Step on Aerial Platform—3000 Witness Accident. By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Mary Larkin de Phil, aerial cyclist, fell from a platform at the end of a steel wire on which she had pedaled a unicycle at the Roxy Theater last night and was killed. She was 26 years old.

Three thousand persons in the theater had watched her ride the unicycle along the strand of steel 40 feet above the stage.

As she pedaled along the wire, her husband, Charles, performed on a trapeze suspended from extensions of the axis of her unicycle. One of his feats was to whirl at high speed as he hung suspended from the trapeze, with Mrs. de Phil pedaling back and forth on the wire.

He finished his part of the turn, grasped the platform at one end of the wire, and descended to the stage. Running forward to the footlights, he acknowledged the applause from the auditorium.

Mrs. de Phil rode the unicycle to the platform and alighted, but somehow missed her footing and fell to the stage floor.

Six women in the theater fainted. The cyclist was taken to a hospital, where she died three hours later. Up to 1932 an ordinance required that aerialists work above a life net. Acrobats complained of this law, saying the net took all the elements of danger from their acts, and the ordinance was repealed.

DEMOCRATS LEAD REPUBLICANS IN CALIFORNIA REGISTRATION

Compulsion Shows 49.52 Per Cent Against 45.58 Per Cent of Total for Nov. 6 Election. (Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press.) SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—While political prophets expect party lines to be split wide open Nov. 6 when California elects a Governor, the Democratic ticket headed by Upton Sinclair has at least a potential numerical advantage.

Registration figures compiled by the Associated Press today showed the Democrats have 49.52 per cent of the total registration compared to 45.58 per cent for the Republicans, led by Acting Gov. Frank F. Merriam. In the August primary Democrats had 48.78 and Republicans 46.33 per cent.

The total registration for the coming election is 3,133,286 (subject to possible revisions in a few counties) subdivided by parties: Republican, 1,428,270; Democratic, 1,581,802; Socialist, 11,480; Progressive, 4283; Commonweal, 3099; miscellaneous, 134,382.

ROYALTY, PEASANTS ATTEND THE FUNERAL

Murdered Ruler Borne to Newly Completed Tomb While Church Bells Toll and Big Guns Boom—Taps Sounded at Grave.

(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press.) BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Oct. 18.—The body of the murdered King Alexander was placed today near those of his ancestors in the Royal Memorial Chapel at Topolo.

While 50 men bore the sarcophagus up a hill through tree-lined lanes to the chapel, all activities throughout Yugoslavia remained at a standstill for two minutes as the common people paid tribute to their King.

Then, as Alexander was laid in the tomb which he had only recently completed, church bells were tolled throughout the country. Heavy guns and land and sea roared out a dirge.

Trumpeters sounded taps for the dead soldier-sovereign. Mignon, as Alexander called his wife, Queen Marie took leave of her royal consort and the doors of the tomb were closed.

Crowds See Funeral Train. Thousands of mourners were held back by troops standing shoulder to shoulder as the funeral train passed from Belgrade to Topolo. Only children were allowed on the right side of the route, enabling troops to supervise more efficiently the activities of adults on the left.

Spectators were not allowed to carry canes or umbrellas, despite a drizzling rain. The route was heavily guarded, lest anarchists attempt to take the lives of the three Kings in the funeral cortege—Little Peter II, son of Alexander; Carol of Rumania, his uncle, and Boris of Bulgaria.

Secret service agents made many arrests as they mingled among the crowd, seeking firearms and bombs. Taking of Body to Tomb. As the casket was being taken to the tomb, the widowed Queen Marie, her mother, Marie of Rumania, and King Peter walked directly behind it.

Peter was in a grayish-green Boy Scout uniform and wore a red and black cap. He seemed on the verge of tears but was consoled by his mother, who bent over and patted him on the cheek, whispering encouraging words.

In strong contrast to the solemn mien of the royal mourners was King Carol, who chatted with President Lebrun of France and the ide-de-camp.

The Duke of Kent, fourth son of King George of England, and his fiancée, Princess Marina of Greece, were in the procession. They had special occasion to remember Alexander because he promoted their match.

Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Premier of Prussia and Chancellor Hitler's representative at the funeral, was a striking figure in the gray-green uniform of a General as he walked between two officials of the Austrian Government.

Body Taken to Cathedral. Promptly at midnight the body was transferred from the marble throne room of the old palace to the National Cathedral, where it rested until the start of the funeral this morning.

Standing before Alexander's casket in the cathedral, the Patriarch Varnava of the Serbian Orthodox Church eulogized him as "a knightly King under whose crown accepted the divergent peoples of Yugoslavia for the first time in history have been united."

Alexander's dying words, "Save Yugoslavia," he said, were a precious legacy which the nation would fulfill with "all honor and glory."

WEIR QUESTIONED ABOUT AGREEMENT WITH LABOR BOARD

Government Seeks to Show Termination by Weirton Co. Caused Agency's Failure to Act.

STEEL FIRM HEAD ON STAND SECOND DAY

U. S. Attorney Contends NRA Group Planned to Supervise Election and Not Primary Balloting.

By the Associated Press.
WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 18.—The Government today in questioning a witness sought to develop that the National Labor Board's failure to supervise the election of Weirton Steel Co. employees for collective bargaining representatives resulted from the company's termination of an agreement and its refusal to post the board's rules governing the balloting.

This contention was brought out in cross-examination of Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the board of the steel company, which the Government seeks to enjoin from interfering with its employees' choice of bargaining representatives. Weir, who was on the stand all day yesterday as the defense's first witness, resumed his testimony at the start of today's session.

Contentions on Agreement.
The Government holds that Weir signed an agreement with the board whereby it would prescribe the regulations for the election last December and that the board representative would supervise the balloting.

Weir contends he had a "gentleman's agreement," that the election would be conducted without any conflict with the employees' representative plan at the Weirton mills. The primary election balloting was scheduled to start at midnight, Dec. 10, and the final selection of nominees was scheduled for Dec. 15.

Weir said the board's election regulations reached him Saturday afternoon, Dec. 9, and that they provided for changes in the employees' plan which he had not authority to make. On Dec. 11 he wrote the board and terminated the agreement and that the election was proceeding in accordance with the employees' representative plan. No labor board representative came to the mill to supervise the balloting, he said.

"Well, I don't know," said Weir. They failed to supervise the nominations.

"What do you think was the natural effect of the letter to the board?" Nebeker continued.

"Well, I think they failed in their obligation when they did not send representatives for the primary election," was the reply.

Nebeker at this point brought out the Government's contention that the labor board intended to supervise only the election of representatives on Dec. 15 and not any primary balloting on Dec. 11.

"Did the rules provide only for supervision of the final election?" Nebeker asked the witness.

"No, I understood they meant both nominations and the final election," said Weir.

Nebeker then read from the agreement, pointing out that it referred only to an "election" and did not mention a primary or nominations.

Attorney Reads From Agreement.
The Government attorney read from the agreement:

"In the event that any disputes arise out of this agreement, it is agreed that the same shall be submitted to the National Labor Board for decision."

"Was that done?" asked Nebeker.

"Well, I wrote the attorney Wagner on Monday evening," said Weir.

"Yes, but there you gave him an ultimatum, did you not?"

"I told him very definitely that we would not post those rules because they changed the entire plan of the employees, which we had no right to do."

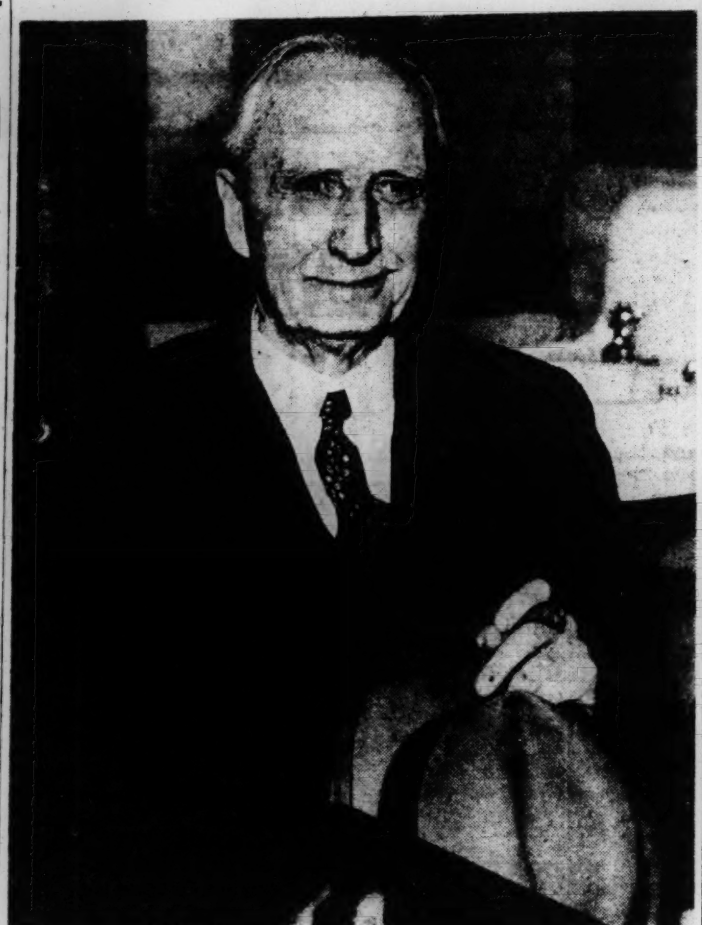

"You did not abide by this provision of the agreement then, did you?"

"That provision in the agreement was never intended to cover any changes in the employees' plan, because we had no right to change that plan, and that was testified at the hearing," said Weir. "The Labor Board had no right to make a decision in the changing of the plan of the employees which was covering their election, and that was never intended."

The agreement, in his opinion, Weir said, did not include a change in the election plan of the employees, "because I or nobody else had a right to do that." One of the differences between the board's rules and the employee plan was that the latter provided for 49 representatives and the former for 98.

KING ALEXANDER BURIED; THRONGS JOIN IN TRIBUTE

our chivalrous King and unifier." All members of the royal family participated in the church services. At the side of the bereaved Queen Marie stood the tiny Princes, Tomislav and Andreas, touching her dress. Too young to realize the significance of the occasion, they looked around the cathedral with boyish curiosity and then at their brother, Peter.

During the funeral all lights in Belgrade were extinguished as a mark of respect to the King.

Departure From Cathedral.
As Alexander's body was carried from the National Cathedral to the gun carriage which conveyed it to the train for Topolo, the strains of Chopin's Funeral March followed the playing of Yugoslavia's national anthem.

A two-day steady rain was suddenly dissipated by a bright sun. More than 100 Yugoslav, French, Czechoslovakian and Rumanian airplanes soared overhead.

Insisting that they must have the honor of bearing their master and King through the streets of the capital to the railway station, 36 members of the King's guard replaced the horses which were to have pulled the gun carriage.

The sobbing of women could be heard above the funeral march as the gun carriage moved slowly through the vast throngs.

Those in the great crowd fell to their knees on the cobble pavement as the flag-draped sarcophagus of the King passed through the main streets of the capital into President Wilson Square. They murmured a benediction.

Devout peasants stood with bowed heads holding crucifixes and lighted candles. Others carried olive branches and corn in the form of crosses, symbolizing resurrection and life.

There were present distinguished representatives of all the nations of the world. While the visiting Kings and Princes and hundreds of foreign delegates appeared in gold-braided uniforms laden with decorations, American Minister Charles S. Wilson was in black civilian dress.

General Carries Crown.
Preceding the sarcophagus a Serbian General carried the murdered sovereign's crown. The same crown will be worn by King Peter when he reaches the age of 18.

Another officer carried Alexander's sword, which the King had no chance to use when he was assassinated at Marseilles. Another held his scepter, symbol of power.

On a velvet cushion were carried foreign honors and decorations. Alexander's aged personal servant and bodyguard, a wounded Serb, crossed, while another priest streamed down his face.

The 11-year-old King Peter walked between two Queens, his mother, Marie of Yugoslavia, and his grandmother, Marie of Rumania. He was flanked by armed officers.

To prevent possible recurrence of the Marseilles tragedy double rows of closely-packed troops with rifles and bayonets stood facing all the buildings along the route of the cortege, while another double row faced the spectators.

Church Dignitary Leads Cortege.
The cortege was led by a Serbian ecclesiastical dignitary bearing a bronze cross, while another priest carried a tray of corn.

Then followed a band of trumpeters, the commander of the cortege, a detachment of troops, regimental flags, military delegations, detachments of foreign armies and members of the Star of Kara-George, the nation's highest order. Then came the King's white charger, with stirrups reversed.

After that there were the Boy Scouts, of which the young King is the head; choral societies and cergymen of various denominations.

In the crowds were Serbians in the brown national costume; Montenegrins in baggy breeches and caps of red and black; Moslems in flowing robes, turbans and red fezzes; and Albanians in embroidered ered jackets and tight-fitting braided flannel trousers. A crane-carrying locomotive with large white crosses painted on its sides waited at the Belgrade station to carry the body of the King to Topolo, 50 miles away. There it was that Alexander's grandfather, Kara-George, won Serbia's partial independence from the Turks.

At the station, where Peter, other members of the royalty and distinguished foreign delegates took positions by the casket, military detachments from England, France, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Greece and Turkey filed by, saluting the dead King and the boy who replaces him.

Hundreds of airplanes dropped flowers on the train as it pulled out of the station. Six thousand five hundred persons have been arrested here during the last few days by police who feared an attempt at assassination during the funeral.

SAYS INSULL HIRED HIM TO PUSH STOCK TO $75 ON MARKET

Broker Testifies Utility Man Told Him "Lot of People" Had Paid That For Corporation Shares.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—J. D. Scheinman, a broker, testified in the Insull mail fraud trial today that "dummy accounts" were used for trading in Insull stocks, some of them on orders given by Samuel Insull himself.

In "October or November" of 1929, Scheinman told the jury which is trying Insull and 16 co-defendants, Insull told him to trade in the first stock issued by the company now under fire—the Corporation Securities Co. of Chicago.

"He told me to operate in the allotted units," Scheinman testified, referring to the form in which the stock was distributed, "and said he'd like to put them up to $75 a share. He said a lot of people had paid that for them."

"While I could use my own judgment on how much to buy and what price was necessary to get the stock up,"

Insull Firms' Stock Profits.
Frederick B. Caldwell, a Federal assistant, testified yesterday that Corporation Securities Co. of Chicago sold 1,250,000 shares of its stock to Insull, Son & Co., and Corporation Syndicate at $25 a share.

The companies then resold the stock to Utilities Securities Companies at $25.50 a share, for a net return after expenses of $599,947.

With another Government accountant, Carl A. Herring, on the stand, the prosecution sought to make clear by means of a "large chart" the position of Insull and each of his 16 co-defendants in the maze of Insull corporations.

"I object to the word at the head of the chart," said Floyd E. Thompson, chief of the defense counsel.

The caption of the chart was "interlocking officers and directors." Judge James H. Wilkinson ordered the word "interlocking" stricken.

"I will show that the officers were interlocking," responded Leslie E. Salter, special Federal prosecutor. Defense attorneys then protested that he had violated the spirit of the ruling by disclosing the stricken word.

One chart were 15 squares, 13 of them labeled for the various Insull companies, one for Halsey Stuart & Co., and one for the Insull family trust.

Starting with Samuel Insull Jr., Herring pointed out to the jury the position each defendant held in the setup of each organization.

The introduction of a smaller chart, from which the larger one was made and which was presented first, brought the objection from Thompson. The larger chart was sent out for repairs. It was brought back with the upper left hand corner removed.

One Statement Barred.
Testimony by Herring that securities for which the Insull family had paid something over $5,000,000 were entered on the books of Insull Utilities Investments, Inc., at a value of $14,264,442 was barred by Judge Wilkinson when the defense objected that the figures were not properly authenticated.

Herring testified at no time did the book value of the securities of the five major Insull companies held by corporation securities held by the company. The Government charged that in selling stock to corporation securities the organizers claimed that 90 per cent of its holdings were in the five major concerns.

of report might be made in the requested inquiry, it would have a political aspect, since Anderson is a candidate for reelection. Gardner said he didn't want the County Bar Association to engage in a political matter.

An investigation of this sort would result in meaningless, voluntary suggestions."

It was learned that a small group of Republican lawyers met at 5 p. m. yesterday at the Clayton office of G. A. Wurdeman, former Circuit Judge, to discuss the petition to Gardner. Wurdeman said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that the use of his office had been requested by William H. Leyhe Jr., treasurer of the County Bar Association. Leyhe insisted he did not know who called the meeting. He is a Republican who is actively supporting Robert Denny, Anderson's opponent in the election.

Contributions of $25 each to the reward fund were received today from Police Commissioner A. B. Lambert, Bradford Shinkle and Joseph L. Werner. Lambert sent the check for all to George L. Stemmler treasurer of the association, with a letter saying: "The action taken upon the petition for the St. Louis Bar Association is the trouble and time the members are willing to sacrifice towards this end, have met with approval and, above all, appreciation on the part of every one I know."

Donations of $10 each were received from N. W. Ewing, John Raeburn Green and President Teasdale. This brought the fund to $155.

A. E. L. Gardner, president of the St. Louis County Bar Association, announced today that he would ignore a petition, received by him from members of the association this morning, asking for an investigation, by the county association, of the assault on Prosecuting Attorney Anderson.

692,000,000 POUNDS OF FOOD SHIPPED FOR FEDERAL RELIEF

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Shipment of 692,228,374 pounds of food for the needy unemployed during the last 12 months was reported yesterday by Harry L. Hopkins as president of the Surplus Relief Corporation.

Hopkins said the corporation also handled millions of pounds of other articles for the needy during the year. He cited the shipment of grains, cattle, citrus fruits, syrup, grass seed, cotton, sheeting, blankets and fuel.

The Surplus Relief Corporation has called for bids on the processing of additional drouth cattle and calves into canned beef and veal. The bids will be opened here Oct. 30, Hopkins said, and will include the processing, curing and storing of hides from the slaughtered cattle.

Both men denied complicity in the assassinations but they were held in jail awaiting the arrival of French police.

Since the day two members of the assassin band were arrested at Annemasse, France, and said they were members of the "Oustachi" sent to Marseilles to carry out the assassination, search had been under way for Pavelich and Kvaternik.

The name of the Oustachi leader himself had not been mentioned directly in connection with the crime, but French police had expressed conviction Kvaternik had been active in laying the groundwork for the assassinations.

The Paris police say three more members of the organization are still at large. They are described as Marie Voudrouh, a man called Mio Bizik, alias "the glassmaker," and another still unidentified.

Police said "the glassmaker," whom they know as a dangerous terrorist, aided "the delegate" in instructing the gang in Pavelich's assassination plans. Bizik was implicated in the confession made by Mio Kraj, who has been under arrest since early this week.

The committee is composed of the work assignment boards set up for the cotton, silk and wool industries to study the "stretchout" question, a point of some contention in the industries for some time.

"The executive order has virtually written the report of the committee before the committee is being," Hood declared. "Such a committee should start unhampered if its report is to be made more than a directed verdict."

ROSNER, FIGURE IN LINDBERGH CASE, NOW IS A POLICE CHIEF Appointed to Position at Long Beach, L. A., a Summer Resort.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Morris Rosner, who figured in the Lindbergh case, is the new police chief of Long Beach, L. A. His "wide and varied" experience with police matters led to his appointment, Mayor Charles Gold said.

Rosner, who is 39 years old, is of Roumanian Gypsy stock. He has been described as a stock promoter, real estate dealer, builder and inventor.

The Lindberghs selected him, at the suggestion of Col. Henry Breckinridge, to deal with the kidnappers of their baby, because of his experience with the underworld. On that assignment he searched the haunts of gangsters for the abductors.

Rosner, in his new position, today gave notice that "wise guys had better behave themselves if they come to this resort next summer."

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 18.—Armed with two rifles and a revolver and carrying a supply of hack saw blades, William Meader, 33 years old, and Clarence Peshman, 22, wanted at Deadwood, S. D., for breaking jail Oct. 9 while being held on burglary charges, were arrested yesterday by State Highway Patrolmen James G. McCann and Fred Maddox, Highway Department weight officer. The prisoners also are wanted for jail breaking at Plattsburg, Mo., where they were facing burglary charges. They were driving an automobile stolen in Deadwood, the arresting officers said.

TURIN, Italy, Oct. 18.—Dr. Ante Pavelich and Egon Kvaternik, alleged by French police to be the leaders of the plot behind the assassinations of King Alexander of Yugoslavia and Foreign Minister Louis Barthou of France, were arrested here today. The arrest was made at the request of France.

Both men denied complicity in the assassinations but they were held in jail awaiting the arrival of French police.

KEYES, CONVICTED PROSECUTOR, DIES STATE CHECKING BOND SURETIES FOR ROSEGRANT

Judge Nolte Will Decide Tomorrow Whether Convicted Kidnaped Has Met Bail Requirement.

MOTHER, BROTHER SUBMIT HOLDINGS Three Other Persons Also Appear As Prospective Bondsmen for $30,000 Fixed by Court.

Circuit Judge Nolte will decide tomorrow whether the sureties offered by Angelo Rosegrant, convicted kidnaper of Dr. I. D. Kelley, for his $30,000 bond, set by the court last Saturday after formal hearing, are acceptable.

The court postponed decision on acceptability of Rosegrant's prospective bondsmen after they had failed to meet the qualifications yesterday afternoon and Associate Presiding Judge Wolfe had asked for time to check their statements of their holdings.

Mrs. Rosegrant, 3098 Lagoon and Hunt roads, mother of the defendant, was the first of the prospective bondsmen to testify. She said she was owner of a 100-foot lot on Easton and Kienlen avenues, which she had improved with a two-story brick building and an adjoining 25-foot vacant lot. The property brings in $800 a month rent, she said, and is assessed at $46,000 and has a market value of $100,000. She testified she was subject to a first mortgage of $25,000. She said she also owned a house at 6109 Natural bridge road worth $12,500, and a lot at St. Louis and Kienlen avenues for which she paid $12,500.

The other bondsmen, Mrs. George E. Ellison, of Maryville; Judge C. A. Leedy Jr., of Kansas City; and Judge Ernest M. Tipton of Kansas City, brother of Mrs. Nellie Tipton Muench of St. Louis, one of the six persons indicted for the kidnapping of Dr. Kelley. Judge Tipton has sat in none of the Supreme Court proceedings of the Kelley case. When defense attorneys last June asked for a writ of prohibition to prevent Judge Nolte from taking jurisdiction in the case on a transfer from Judge McElhinney, the decision that Judge Nolte might hear the case was made by the court en banc. Judge Tipton, a Democrat, was a resident of Kansas City when he was elected Nov. 8, 1932, to a 10-year term on the Supreme Court.

law. It was sworn to by Earl J. Connelly, commanding the agents who pursued her husband. She clung to him.

"I don't know anything about it. I don't care," she said as the charges were read, accusing her of kidnapping, conspiracy to kidnap, interstate transfer of a person for ransom and holding for ransom. The same charges confront the other two.

Tearfully she said, "I want an attorney. I demand an attorney." Dailey had asked if she had anything to say. Sparks said she would have every opportunity to get a lawyer. She pleaded not guilty. Dailey set preliminary hearing for Oct. 26.

Sparks said he would not await for capture of the younger Robinson to prosecute. A special grand jury today was ordered impaneled Saturday by Federal Judge Dawson.

Mrs. Robinson was led away to a jail dormitory, a jail matron was locked up with her. Two Federal agents, stripped of their pistols by Jailer Martin Connors—who will not allow weapons inside the jail—guarded the dormitory door.

Mrs. Robinson asked to "get in touch with Mrs. Stoll right away—right away." Connors said if she came the prisoner could see her.

Again Asks for Attorney. A demand for an attorney was made again today by Mrs. Robinson after a restless night in jail. "I would like to talk to an attorney," she said in a note to Connors. "In other words, charged with a serious crime, I demand it as my right."

Clem W. Huggins, a leading criminal lawyer here, visited Mrs. Robinson and said he would take her case. Huggins was named in her note as the attorney she desired. He said he had gone to school with Robinson's father, and had helped young Robinson get a job with the Stoll Oil Co. here several years ago. Huggins said he would seek to reduce her bond to about $50,000.

Dr. E. C. Redmond, physician who attends Federal prisoners in the jail, was called twice during the night. About 1 a. m. he gave Miss Robinson sleeping tablets and he called again at daybreak. An assistant, Mrs. Ella Zoller, was in constant attendance.

Mrs. Robinson has smoked almost incessantly since entering the jail. Connors said the prisoner voluntarily surrendered a cheap paring knife, with a three-inch blade, when informed she would be searched after entering the jail. He said the woman keeps asking for her mother and her child.

Mrs. Robinson slept in a jail dormitory with another woman who was released today after having served nine months of a one-year

The court issued a writ of mandamus, sought by the city, compelling the judges of St. Louis Circuit Court, in general term, to appoint a permanent condemnation commission for three members, and three alternates.

UPHOLDS ST. LOUIS COURT REFUSES TO DROP CONTESTS OF PRIMARY VOTE

Defeated Pair Cannot Post Bond to Cover Costs, but Judge Ryan Calls for Report on Recount.

Circuit Judge O'Neill Ryan refused today to dismiss the election contest suits affecting the primary vote for candidates for Justice of the Peace and Constable in the Fifth Justice Court District. The contestants, Maurice J. Gordon, a candidate for Justice in the primary, and Jeff Covington, Negro, for Constable, had stated in court that they could not provide additional bond to cover costs of the proceeding.

As Judge Ryan had stated that additional bond would be required, the failure to furnish it gave him legal ground to dismiss the suits. Louis E. Sher, attorney for the defense, moved that he do so.

Peter T. Barrett, attorney for Gordon, asked that the court require the counters, who have conducted a recount of the vote cast in the 24 precincts composing the district, and have discovered large errors in the count made by the judges and clerks, to file their report with the court. Attorney Sher opposed this, and moved that the suit be dismissed with no report.

Justice Ryan replied to the defense, "Suppose I do take further responsibility in this matter; that is my own concern."

"Unless further costs are incurred, I shall go ahead with this case, as far as it has now gone."

He asked whether the counters were ready to file their report, and was informed that, while the recount was complete, a tabulation would still have to be made, and some disputed ballots checked. He asked whether the counters would ask whether they would be guaranteed of compensation, and one of the counters, Richard Schmidt, replied that they would do so, and would have the report in his hands some time tomorrow.

Action a Surprise. Judge Ryan's action, keeping alive the contest proceeding which seemed about to perish for lack of financial support, was a surprise to the contestants and counsel. Covington, one of the contestants, began a profuse expression of thanks to the court, but was cut short by Judge Ryan, who told him the action taken had not placed him under any personal obligation.

"I never like to drive parties out of court because they cannot afford to stay in," Judge Ryan said. He suggested that the contestants could carry on the case without further security, if they wished to make affidavits and show their right to sue as poor persons.

Gross Errors Disclosed. As has been told, the recount of Fifth and Nineteenth Ward precinct votes, in the pending contest, has shown gross errors in the court for the offices affected, and the Election Board, acting on these developments, has suspended all the judges and clerks of election in 17 precincts of the two wards, 102 persons in all.

Three of the suspended election officials today applied to the Election Board for hearings, and will have the hearings at 10 a. m. tomorrow. They are Mrs. Valerie Hunt, 1116A North Leonard avenue, Republican judge of the seventeenth precinct; Henry F. Linkford, of 3838 Windsor place, Republican clerk of the eighteenth precinct; and Robert C. Bremer, 86 Vandeventer place, Republican judge of the nineteenth precinct.

The Non-Partisan Honest Election Committee, which is following the developments in the contest, is making an especial effort to bring about, before election day, a grand jury investigation of the irregularities shown.

Wilton D. Chapman, attorney for the committee, yesterday asked Circuit Attorney Miller to issue a subpoena duces tecum for production of the ballot boxes of the 17 Fifth and Nineteenth Ward precincts, in order that an immediate investigation may be made, and that indictments may be voted before the election. Hauptmann Examining Ransom Notes fraudulent voting and fraudulent counting in the election.

Not Feasible, Miller Says. The Circuit Attorney took the view that this action would not be feasible. He pointed out that a temporary order, issued a week ago by the Missouri Supreme Court and directed against Circuit Judge Hartmann, stopped investigation of the vote of the Fourth Ward, 15th precinct. He said this action would be repeated as to other precincts in case of any new effort at investigation. The proper way to proceed, the Circuit Attorney said, would be to follow through the case now before the Supreme Court, oppose a permanent writ of prohibition against the inquiry, and proceed with the inquiry when the ban is lifted.

Attorney Chapman argued that time was valuable, in view of the near approach of the election, and that the case now in the Supreme Court probably would be prolonged until after election. He said the Court's order applied to one precinct only, and that his organization would have an attorney before the Supreme Court to oppose any application for a similar order as to other precincts.

"Not Going to Be Stamped." "Circuit Attorney Miller suggested," Chapman said today, "that I should go to the Supreme Court and ask to have the order in the Fourth Ward case set aside. I replied that the Circuit Attorney was the proper person to make such a request."

"He then said, 'I'm not going to be stamped; I'm going to do this in my own method way.'"

"The grand jury intends to get into those ballot boxes as soon as possible," Circuit Attorney Miller said to a Post-Dispatch reporter today. "If it can be done before election, so much better, but if the proceeding in the Supreme Court delays us until after election, I don't see how that can be helped. In the meantime, the grand jury is proceeding with other phases of the investigation, such as registration, so that no time is being lost."

Attorney Chapman gave out a copy of a memorandum which he submitted to the Circuit Attorney, citing a Supreme Court decision as to the right of grand juries to open ballot boxes.

"The grand jury," Chapman said in his memorandum, "can demand of the Circuit Attorney that he apply for a subpoena duces tecum for boxes and other records; in the event of his refusal, it is the duty of the foreman of the grand jury to ask the presiding Judge (Hartmann) to assemble them in his court for further instructions, and the Judge can issue the subpoena without the interposition of the Circuit Attorney."

GOVERNMENT'S SILVER PROFIT TO BE REPORTED EACH DAY

$3,171,296 Realized From Seigniorage for Fiscal Year to Date.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Seigniorage or profit arising from the issuance of certificates against silver bullion under the Silver Purchase Act henceforth will be reported separately each day by the Treasury.

The statement issued today as of Oct. 16 showed $3,171,296 from this source, for the fiscal year to date. This is in addition to $50,013,144 coming from the issuance of certificates against about 62,000,000 ounces of silver previously held in the Treasury, plus newly-mined metal acquired under the President's proclamation of last December.

The silver seigniorage will be covered as a special receipt in the same way as the estimate resulting from a reduction in the gold content of the dollar, which is shown on the statement as $312,143,374. The total gold increment was about $2,800,000,000, but only part of this was transferred to the general fund. The Government retained $1,800,000,000 in the stabilization fund and employed the rest for other purposes.

Under the new plan the gold increment and silver seigniorage are deducted from the total net balance, leaving a "working" balance which was $1,153,300,825 as of Oct. 16. The entire balance is available for expenditures when the Treasury so desires.

$9,500,000 INVOLVED IN INSURANCE SUITS

Policy-Holders Have That Much at Stake in Rate Dispute.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 18.—Missouri policyholders of the stock fire insurance companies operating in the State now have about $9,500,000 at stake in the legal fight being made by the State Insurance Department, in the Federal and State courts, against a fire insurance rate increase of 16 2/3 per cent which was forced into effect by the companies in June, 1930, under protection of Federal Court injunctions.

The $9,500,000 represents the difference between the old and the higher rate, which has been collected by the companies. The difference is being impounded by the courts pending final decisions in the numerous suits pending. About $8,000,000 has been impounded by Federal District Court in Kansas City, where 137 separate injunction suits filed by as many companies, to restrain the department from interfering with collection of the higher rates, are pending. Cole County Circuit Court has impounded $1,525,000 in one suit pending there, in which 74 companies are asking for a review of the reasonableness of the higher rates.

Based on the past experience of the State in its attempts to regulate fire insurance rates for several years more.

struggle, after 12 years, to force full restitution to policyholders by the stock fire companies of excess premiums collected during seven years of litigation over a 10 per cent State reduction order, in 1922. The last five years have been devoted to legal moves to compel repayment in full.

The companies collected $13,087,619 in excess premiums before the 10 per cent rate reduction finally was sustained. The department has no definite information on how much has been repaid, but the United States Supreme Court recently sustained the Cole County Circuit Court's effort to enforce a restitution order, and conduct an accounting. The amount not repaid has been estimated at $3,000,000 to $5,000,000.

The 137 cases pending in Federal District Court over the 16 2/3 per cent increase, which was filed in 1929, a few months after the companies were forced to put the 10 per cent reduction into effect, have reached the stage of reports to the court by the Master in Chancery, Paul Barnett, of Kansas City. Department attorneys said all of the reports were favorable to the companies, but did not recommend any particular increase.

Five Cases Argued.
Five of the cases, involving various points of law, have been argued and submitted to the Federal Court, for decision. The cases undoubtedly will be carried to the United States Supreme Court.

Taking of testimony in the State case has been completed before Dudley F. Calfee, Jefferson City attorney, who was appointed as referee, and Calfee is preparing his report to the court.

Department attorneys said the bulk of the $8,000,000 impounded by Federal District Court had been invested in Government securities, and that the interest paid on these securities took care of the clerical and accounting work involved in keeping the accounts.

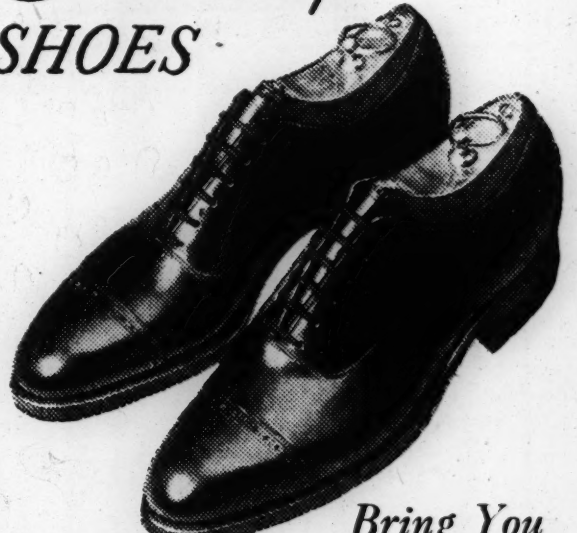

The fund impounded by the State Insurance Department and was invested in Government securities, the interest meeting the expenses. However in January, 1933, Circuit Judge Nike Sevier of Cole County Circuit Court ordered the funds transferred to banks he designated. No interest is being collected now on these funds.

Expenses of administration of the State fund, now about $18,000 a year, are being paid from the principal of the impounded premiums.

CRIS OF 'HEIL HITLER' BREAK UP CONGRESSIONAL HEARING

Outbreak by Friends of New Germany at New York Session of Committee.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18. — Cries of "Heil Hitler!" by 200 members of the Friends of the New Germany broke up the hearing of the Congressional Committee on un-American Activities yesterday.

Fist fights between Jewish and Nazi sympathizers were narrowly averted by police as the audience poured out of the hearing room. Trouble broke out when Ludwig Werner, a witness, testified he was "kicked out" of the Friends of the New Germany because "I was too smart to obey orders blindly." Immediately the hearing room resounded with cries of "Heil Hitler" from a bloc of the Friends of the New Germany. Representative John W. McCormack of South Boston,

Mass., chairman of the committee, adjourned the meeting and said: "I desire to ask the police not to construe this action as representing Americans of German blood. Actions of this kind reflect discredit on the Friends of New Germany."

McCormack said no more hearings would be held in New York. Werner, who was jeered the moment he appeared in the witness chair said the "storm troop" unit of 120 members to which he belonged held regular military drills in a Brooklyn hall.

CITY'S EXPENSES RISE $787,000 IN HALF YEAR

Increase Is Due Largely to Budget Increase; Receipts
Off $1,016,757.

Expenditures of the city for the first six months of the current fiscal year, which began in April, totaled $9,283,643, an increase of $787,000 over expenses for the corresponding period last year, Comptroller Noite reported today to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. Receipts so far this year were $1,016,757 less than last year, a drop from $5,224,864 to $4,208,107. The greater part of city revenue is collected in the last quarter of the fiscal year.

The increase in expenses, the Comptroller's office pointed out, is due mainly to the fact that the total budget for operation of city departments this year was $19,181,399 as compared with $17,666,775, an increase of $1,465,624. This was made necessary by increased expenditures for the public hospitals and institutions because of overcrowding and the replacing old and obsolete equipment in the various city departments.

The decrease in receipts is explained by the fact that payments of back taxes dropped from $2,487,860 in the first six months of last year to $1,630,729 this year. This was due to the fact that last year back taxes paid prior to June 30 were exempt from all penalties; this year no such exemptions were in effect.

Last year the city also reduced a deficit in Municipal revenue from $1,379,529 in April, 1933, when the new Democratic administration took office, to $149,698 in April, 1934. This year the budget had to be increased to take care of expenses in departments which were eliminated from the budget the previous year in order to make up the deficit.

Some of the larger increases include: Elections and registrations, increase of $127,866 because of added expense in conducting this year's primary election Aug. 7 and several supplementary registrations; Fire Department, $110,182 for replacement of old equipment; City Sanitarium, $62,881 to provide facilities for new patients; maintenance of parks, $34,002 to take care of park maintenance work neglected the previous year; sewer maintenance, $31,346 to maintain additional sewers constructed during the year; bituminous paving section, $33,717, for construction of a large number of new streets; City Hospital, $46,401 for facilities for new patients; City Hospital No. 2, $28,291, and Koch Hospital, $28,174, for additional facilities.

The Water Department, whose finances are kept separate from other city departments, also showed an increase in expenditures and a decrease in receipts for the six months' period as compared with the same period the previous year. Expenses this year were $1,097,133 as compared with $974,554 last year. Receipts this year were $3,305,006 as compared with $3,709,944 in 1933.

Of the total, $137,788 consists of stocks, $80,000 bonds, and $12,695 cash. A membership in the Log Cabin Club is inventoried at $1. His will left the estate, with the exception of a $1000 specific bequest to Lucille May, a maid, in trust for his widow, Mrs. Louise Filley Walker, and his son, David D. Walker III.

CITY MANAGERS VOTE TO DRAW UP RELIEF PROGRAM

Authorize Appointment of Committee to Submit Suggestions to Federal Authorities.

The appointment of a committee to prepare a program of unemployment relief for cities for submission to Federal relief authorities at Washington was voted yesterday by the International Association of City Managers at the final session of a three-day conference at Hotel Statler.

The committee was suggested by Hollis R. Thompson, city manager of Berkeley, Cal., who said he believed such a program should be drafted by the association in collaboration with other organizations of municipal officers. The committee will be named by the president of the city managers' organization.

The conference, the association's twenty-first, ended last night with a banquet at which Louis Brownlow, a former president of the organization and now director of the Public Administration Clearing House of Chicago, urged that city managers consider the problems of their surrounding communities as well as those of the cities they operated.

"In the future a city manager will be required to consider all aspects of community life," said Brownlow, "and this will be necessary to a greater extent than ever before. He will not only be required to consider the interests of his own city, but the relationship between factors in his own city and similar phases of life in neighboring municipalities and other states."

Definite Tenure of Office.
The principal problem discussed at the afternoon session yesterday was how city managers could be assured definite tenure of office. In most cities, it was pointed out, their terms of office are subject to approval of the Boards of Aldermen or councils of the various cities.

John N. Eddy, manager of Dallas, Tex., suggested that city charters provide that managers should be employed by contract for a definite term of office. Eddy also suggested that to further the city manager-council form of government, the association conduct an educational campaign through professors of government in colleges and secondary schools.

"As time goes on," said Eddy, "there is more need for the best city managers in the business to stay in office, just as there is for those who have given up their offices to come back in. Some means should be found to assure us definite tenures of office."

Manager and Council.
Discussing the relationship between city managers and councils, several of the managers said they believed a city manager should be primarily concerned with operation of the city government as an administrative officer, not an originator of municipal policies. Paul Morton, manager of Lexington, Ky., said that "any manager who steps into the legislative field is trespassing on quicksand. At the same time, a member of a council who attempts to encroach on the administrative side of the city government should be 'called' promptly by the city manager."

I. C. Brower, New Rochelle, N. Y., said that "a city manager should be content with supervision and leave the legislative functions entirely to the city council." Following the discussions at the afternoon session, the annual business meeting was held and the following officers elected: H. L. Woolhiser, Winnetka, Ill., president; Henry Traxler, Janesville, Wis., first vice-president; I. C. Brower, New Rochelle, N. Y., second vice-president, and Hollis R. Thompson, Berkeley, Cal., third vice-president. The newly elected officers were formally installed at the banquet. W. F. Day, county manager of Henrico County, Va., is the retiring president.

ST. LOUIS FIRM DEPRIVED OF BLUE EAGLE BY THE NRA

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. — The General Machine & Foundry Co., 31 St. George street, St. Louis, was deprived of its Blue Eagle yesterday by the NRA.

The firm was found by the NRA Compliance Council to have violated provisions of the valve and fittings code on filing prices with the code authority, publication of misleading statements and on payment of unearned discounts; and of the pipe and nipple code provisions on filing list prices and other statistical information with the code authority and sales and payment of rebates and allowances not in accordance with published schedules.

Louis Mayer, attorney for the concern, said the General Machine & Foundry Co. never pretended to comply with any code and never had a Blue Eagle. According to the lawyer, the company is not a manufacturer, being engaged in the jobbing of pipe fittings, and had refused to be bound by the manufacturers' code.

Golden Wedding Celebration.
Mr. and Mrs. Edward Weber, 4554 Red Bud avenue, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary Sunday. A dinner in their honor was given at the Northwestern Hotel, 4919 Natural Bridge avenue. Mr. Weber, a retired letter carrier, is 75 years old and his wife is 69.

MAN KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE WHILE CROSSING STREET

Driver Says His Vision Was Obscured by Rain and He Saw Pedestrian Too Late.

An unidentified man, about 55 years old, was killed by an automobile on Chouteau avenue, near Jefferson avenue, last night.

The man was 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighed 160 pounds and had brown hair and blue eyes. He wore a blue serge coat, blue trousers with pin stripe, a blue shirt, tan sweater, black shoes and a cap.

The driver, Ervin Kuhlmeier, 4654 Loughborough avenue, told police the man was crossing Chouteau avenue, about 50 feet east of Jefferson avenue, at 8:15 o'clock and walked into the path of the machine. Kuhlmeier said his vision was obscured by rain and he saw the man too late to stop. The man died of a fractured skull shortly after arriving at City Hospital.

Mrs. Mae Stanka, 32, 1618 South Theresa avenue, suffered a skull injury and a fractured pelvis when struck by an automobile at Lafayette and Theresa avenues at 6:15 p. m. The driver, Arthur Brandt, 4247 Lafayette avenue, told police he did not see Mrs. Stanka in time to avoid hitting her.

HENNINGS OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN FOR SEAT IN CONGRESS

Eleventh District Democrat Asks for Election to Assist in 'Completing Recovery Program.'

Thomas C. Hennings Jr., formally opening his campaign as Democratic nominee for Congressman from the Eleventh District at a meeting last night, urged voters to assist the Roosevelt administration in "completing the recovery program" by election of a Democratic Congress.

Comparing business conditions in March, 1933, with activity indicated by a Chamber of Commerce survey for the first eight months of 1934, Hennings said:

"Destructive criticism, with no possible substitute to offer, cannot answer these facts. If the Republican party offers us anything better to supplant our efforts toward recovery, I have not encountered it in the fulminations of their spokesmen."

Criticism Republican Rule.

"After 12 years of Republican rule, in March, 1933, the richest nation in the world found itself in a state of hopelessness and despair. The President acted swiftly and with vigor."

"Our banking system was put in order. Far-reaching agencies were established to aid the working man, industrialist, banker and farmer, realizing that all classes of citizens are inter-dependent and that, under our economic system, we cannot have true prosperity unless all these great classes are prosperous."

"Homes have been saved, life savings have been made secure, employment has been given to millions of unemployed. Industry, which has been regulated, regulation similar to the NRA is being given opportunity to regulate itself. Prohibition, after the Republican party had sidestepped and sidetracked repeal, was repealed. The Democratic administration has substituted action for inaction."

"Working Conditions Improved."

"Working conditions and hours have been improved. The labor of children for the profit of their employers and to the detriment of their minds, bodies and spirits, has been abolished. Young men have been placed in Conservation Corps, doing useful work, and saved from the street corner gangs, the first step in a life of crime. Unemployment and old-age insurance constitute one of the principal parts of the program."

Hennings turned to a discussion of the Democratic and Republican parties and issues raised in the present campaign.

"The Democratic party," he continued, "has as its chief tenet concern in the welfare of the average man and woman, his economic and social welfare and his opportunity for self-betterment and his future security. Leaders of the Republican party, in recent years, have returned to the Hamiltonian conception of government which exalted the rule of the few 'best fitted to govern.'"

"We do not believe well regulated charity to be the ideal of a democracy but we do believe that everyone who wants work should have it."

"Europe's swift return to the middle-ages with its staggering array of violence and bloodshed, its attack on human and property rights as well as on government and established order, cause the thinking man and woman to concern as to the future of these unsettled nations, torn by internal strife as well as economic distress and uncertainty."

"In the light of these events, when we consider our present condition under our constitution and laws and the leadership of President Roosevelt, we realize the stability and security of our people."

DONNELLY GARMENT CO. GETS WAGE AND HOUR EXEMPTION

Conditions Include Wage Payment
Not Less Than Rate in Cotton Garment Code.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. — The Donnelly Garment Co. of Kansas City was granted conditional exemption from the wage and hour provision of the dress manufacturing code today by NRA.

The conditions of exemption include among others that the company pay a minimum wage not less than the rate provided in the cotton garment code for 85 per cent of the number of hours worked and not less than the minimum provided in the dress code for 15 per cent of the hours.

Hourly rates when working on garments above $45 a dozen wholesale are to be computed on the basis of a 35-hour week as provided in the dress manufacturing code.

RELIEF AGENCY OMMITS SOAP
Meat Also Left Out of Welcome Inn Baskets.

Welcome Inn, relief agency at 918 South Fourth street, has discontinued the distribution of meat and soap in its weekly baskets to destitute families because of a shortage of funds, it was announced today by Mrs. Nat Brown, general chairman.

"We have been forced to economize," Mrs. Brown explained, "and we feel that families may do without meat better than without bread, milk and vegetables. However, soap is more in demand than meat."

CHARLES H. COMPTON URGES FEDERAL AID FOR LIBRARIES

St. Louisan, President of American Association, Speaks at Memphis Meeting.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 18. — Charles H. Compton of St. Louis, president of the American Library Association, advocated Federal aid for libraries in an address last night at a joint meeting of the Southwestern and Southeastern Library Associations.

"There is nothing new about Federal aid," he said. "For more than 100 years grants have been made by the Federal Government. However, within the past 20 years there has been the most rapid development. In 1915, Congress appropriated $11,000,000 for Federal aid; in 1930, $150,000,000. About 40,000,000 or one-third of the population of the United States have adequate public library service and another 40,000,000 are wholly without library service."

We who make whiskey

"DRINK MODERATELY"

ON one point all thoughtful men have always agreed. On one point all connoisseurs in the art of enjoyable living have always agreed.

The lasting enjoyment of the pleasures of life depends on moderation.

A few weeks will mark the anniversary of Repeal. We think it is appropriate that we who make whiskey should emphasize, to you who drink whiskey, the desirability of moderation.

For a situation exists today which requires us both to take an honest, serious look at the future.

Our stake in that future is clear—our part in an industry in which we have held an honored position for 77 years.

Your stake is of vital concern.

It involves not only your health, your money expenditures, and your enjoyment of life—but a principle which is the very core and fibre of American history and tradition—your personal liberty.

The Threat to Liberty

When Repeal came, most brand names were unfamiliar. People lacked experience. They didn't know how to choose.

Many bought unwisely. And drank unwisely, too. Because this new whiskey was inexpensive, it was consumed freely. Because of its rawness and harshness, it could not be consumed as whiskey should be—for mellow warmth and flavor.

If we both think honestly and speak frankly, we must admit this condition is not in the tradition of fine living. It is not what any thoughtful person could desire.

What Common Sense Suggests

There is nothing new about drinking whiskey.

Through generations, it has always occupied a natural place in gracious living.

The House of Seagram believes that whiskey, properly used, is deserving of that position. Seagram's has always felt that the proper use of whiskey suggests a pleasure in its aroma, its flavor, its mellowness.

However, these characteristics are found only in whiskey that has been properly distilled and then brought to full mellowness, full wholeness by aging.

The real enjoyment which whiskey can add to the pleasures of gracious living is possible only to the man who drinks good, aged whiskey and drinks moderately.

Therefore, the lesson of generations of experience is not inapplicable to problems of today. The principle of moderation is not at variance with what common sense suggests as the right course for us today.

Drink moderately... Drink better whiskey.

Whiskey is a Luxury

Whiskey cannot take the place of milk, bread or meat. The pleasure which good whiskey offers is definitely a luxury.

On our part we feel so strongly that we say—the House of Seagram does not want a dollar that should be spent for the necessities of life.

And even to those to whom whiskey does not mean actual deprivation, we say—treat whiskey as a luxury. A pint of good, aged whiskey will bring you more enjoyment, more satisfaction, than a quart of whiskey of dubious quality.

We feel sure that you will agree with us that the desirable way of life is thoughtful, informed by experience, guided by common sense. Realizing this, we feel sure that you will prefer moderation in the enjoyment of the finest to the empty satisfaction that follows upon profusion of the second rate.

Now Science Explains Why So Many People Past 40

Feel That They're Slipping—Losing Their "Grip" on Things

It's Often Nothing More Serious Than a Touch of "Acid Stomach" HOW TO RELIEVE IT

About forty, many people begin to look back on life. They notice they've lost "snap." Worry. Think they're "growing old."

They have headaches oftener. Feel tired and low a lot. Are subject to stomach upsets . . . nausea.

Well, scientists say it may not be so bad as it looks. That the real cause, in a great percentage of cases, is a tendency to an acid condition of the stomach. A condition that follows years, perhaps, of faulty diet. And that's very easy to relieve.

Do This

The thing to do, according to doctors, is to neutralize the excess stomach acidity. Which is very simple to do.

When you have one of these acid stomach upsets, all you do is take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia after meals. And another time before you go to bed. Chances are, you will feel fewer headaches. Most of the pep and energy you think you've lost will come back. It's really remarkable.

Convenient New Phillips' Tablets

Take either the familiar liquid "PHILLIPS'" or the new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets—which you can carry anywhere. They're only 25c a big box, at all druggists! Also large family size, 200 tablets $1.00. Try them.

SIGNS WHICH OFTEN INDICATE ACID STOMACH

ACID INDICATIONS
LOSS OF APPETITE
FREQUENT HEADACHES
FEELING OF WEARINESS SLEEPLESSNESS
BROODING MOUTH ACIDITY

WHAT TO DO FOR IT

TAKE—2 teaspoonsful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water in the morning when you get up. Take another teaspoonful thirty minutes after eating. And another before you go to bed.

KILLS WIFE, SMALL BABY AND SELF WITH SHOTGUN

Pennsylvania Man Ends Life After Double Murder in Farm-house.

By the Associated Press.
DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Oct. 18.—On entering his farmhouse at Eureka last night, William Erhardt found his son, Leonard, 23 years old; his son's wife, Ida, 17, and the pair's child, Leonard Jr., 3 months old, dead from three charges fired from a single-barreled shotgun.

Police said the young man, an employee at a hosiery mill in Chalfont, apparently had shot his wife as she sat with the baby in her lap beside the kitchen stove. The baby, they said, was shot as it lay on the floor after falling from the mother's arms. Erhardt then loaded the weapon for the third time and fired a charge into his chest, investigators said. "I have no idea what caused this awful thing to happen," the father told police.

PLANS APPROVED FOR EARLY WORK ON INSTITUTIONS

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 18.—The State Building Commission yesterday approved recommendations of its bi-partisan advisory commission for an early start on construction projects at the Alcoa Reformatory, near here, and three State eleemosynary institutions, under the $13,778,000 program of rehabilitating, modernizing and enlarging the eleemosynary and penal institutions. The recommendations adopted were for immediate completion of plans and an early start on the following projects:

Completion of the Hyde Building at State Hospital No. 1 for insane, at Pulton, at a cost of $11,000.

Completion of the Lloyd Building at the State Sanitarium for Tubercular patients at Mount Vernon at a cost of $18,000.

Completion of the cafeteria, serving and dining room at State Hospital No. 4, for insane, at Farmington, at a cost of $19,000.

On recommendations by the advisory commission, the Building Commission appointed S. J. Callahan of Kansas City as structural engineer; A. H. Kendrick of Seymour as civil engineer and Earl V. Gauger and Roy Chaffee, both of St. Louis, as assistant architects, each of whom will receive $300 a month. Miss Agnes Gibbons of St. Joseph was named stenographer for the advisory committee.

The commission also authorized the advisory commission to buy three automobiles, at a cost of not to exceed $1000 each, for use of the technical staff. The commission also authorized an expenditure of $1000 for completion of a survey of industrial employment and education in the penal institutions.

The survey is to be made under the supervision of Dr. R. W. Seidvige, professor of industrial education at the University of Missouri.

Despite Probability of Andrew and Holt Counties Returning to G. O. P., 3500 Plurality Is Likely.

PARTY LEADERS SAY INTEREST IS SLIGHT

Truman Is Expected to Run 1000 Behind Ticket Because of Rural Opposition to Boss Pendergast.

By CURTIS A. BETTS,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

MARYVILLE, Mo., Oct. 17.—Six counties forming a group at the extreme northwest corner of the State, which two years ago returned a plurality of 8677 for Roosevelt, this year, in the opinion of informed local leaders, will give the Democratic State candidates generally pluralities of approximately 3500. These counties are Andrew, Atchison, Gentry, Holt, Nodaway and Worth.

Harry S. Truman, Democratic nominee for United States Senator, is expected to run several hundred, possibly as much as 1000 behind the remainder of the ticket because of opposition among rural Democrats to the attempted extension of the Boss Pendergast political control from Kansas City to the remainder of the State.

Richard M. Duncan of St. Joseph, Democratic nominee for Congressman in the Third District, probably will have a majority quite a bit in excess of 3500, due both to his own popularity and to the fact that his Republican opponent, William A. Black of Lawson, Ray County, is not extensively known to the voters in this remote part of the district.

Lack of Interest Reported.

Some differences of opinion exist among the leaders as to the size of the vote which will be cast, and on this depends, of course, the size of majority. All report a seeming lack of interest in the campaign, and from this they are disposed to estimate that the vote will be small. However, a study of the situation indicates that a vote only slightly less than that of 1932 may be expected. That year 36,323 votes were cast in the six counties, which have a combined population of 86,864.

Interest shown in the primary is a factor to be included in estimating the general election vote, though it is not conclusive. The primary vote this year in the six counties was 22,645, divided 14,327 for the Democrats and 8318 for the Republicans. This was about a thousand less than the primary vote in 1932, when the total was 23,886, of which 13,971 were Democrats and 9915 Republicans. It was 7000 more than in 1930, when the total was 15,921, of which 6555 were Democrats and 9366 Republicans.

The 1932 general election total was 36,323, and the 1930 general election total was 34,920.

Those who believe that although there is not much political discussion going on, that there has developed a greater interest in politics during the past four or five years, are estimating that the total vote this year will be about the same as in 1930 and only slightly under that of the vote in the last presidential election.

Region Mostly Agricultural.

All these counties are rural and agriculture is almost the sole business. Whatever other business there is is dependent entirely on agriculture. One hears considerable talk of dissatisfaction among the farmers, of this and that Republican who voted for Roosevelt and is now back in the Republican reservation, of this and that Democrat who "puts in all his time cussin' the administration."

But Republican leaders are in general agreement with the Democratic leaders that this section of the State will go Democratic this year by something more than the 1223 majority of 1930 and something less than the 8677 majority of 1932.

It is the expectation that Andrew and Holt Counties, usually Republican, but which were carried by Roosevelt, will return to the Republican column by small majorities this year. The other four are safely Democratic.

All these counties were hard hit by the drought last summer and the amount of Federal and State direct relief money which has come to them admittedly has not only helped the individuals who received it, but has helped the merchants in the towns. Suffering demanding outside relief aid has not been as extensive in these counties as in many other parts of the State, only about 5 per cent of the inhabitants now being on direct relief.

Yet in the past two years $266,674.15 of Federal and State money has been paid out in the six counties in direct relief, and it is now being paid out at the rate of about $20,000 a month, which is about twice the average monthly rate during the two-year period.

Political observers say they believe this will benefit the Democratic candidates, at least among that element of the population which is receiving relief or which does not pay the direct taxes from which the relief funds are derived.

REPUBLICAN RULE SET NATION BACK 30 YEARS, TRUMAN SAYS

Asserts Party Cannot Be Trusted With National Power; Redistribution of Wealth Needed.

By the Associated Press.

UNIONVILLE, Mo., Oct. 18.—Losses in the 1929 stock market crash approximated the accumulated actual and "illusory" earnings of the nation over a period of 30 years and were due to Republican policies, Judge Harry S. Truman, Democratic nominee for the United States Senate, charged in a campaign address here today.

"We have been living in a glorious illusion," he said. "We put ourselves on the back because we have the largest per capita wealth of any nation. But the per capita wealth is only an arithmetical abstraction. The masses of our people have little wealth. The bulk is concentrated in the hands of a few great families whose wealth is tied up in non-productive, non-taxpaying securities. We are facing a situation which impels us to discard some of our former ideas, particularly as to the social and economic order. We must have a new one, based on a more equal distribution of our earnings. We must fertilize the entire stream of wealth as it is produced so that it will reach every artery in the economic system.

"This cannot be done until we abandon the Republican methods which brought us to our present condition. We must provide customers for industry by increasing the return to workers and farmers. Our industry is pitched on a comfort-luxury basis. Our people must leave the plane of necessity living for the new standard.

"We must take, at least, the common sense view that a party such as the Republican organization, which had control of the Government for 12 years and has for its record the worst financial and economic crash in history, should not again be trusted with national power."

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—A. P. Giannini, president of the Bank of America, opened a celebration of the bank's thirtieth anniversary last night by announcing a pension plan for retiring employees, effective Jan. 1. "Under its terms," said Giannini, "there will be available to all employees who choose to participate a liberal income and days of leisure after they pass the retirement age." He gave no details. The bank employs 6000 persons.

Who Are the Users of Trust Service?

WHAT THE OFFICIAL PUBLIC RECORDS OF THE PROBATE COURTS SHOW

A study has just been completed in reference to estates administered by St. Louis banks and trust companies. This study covers the ten year period ending January 1, 1933. The official public records of the Probate Courts in St. Louis and St. Louis County constitute our source of information for all St. Louis and St. Louis County estates.

(Since these records do not include the few estates administered elsewhere than locally by St. Louis banks and trust companies, we sought such information directly from the institutions involved and have used the information obtained to supplement that compiled from the Probate Court records.)

Our Study Reveals the Following Significant Facts:

- 1. Size of Estates Administered:
83% of the estates administered by banks and trust companies were under $100,000 in value. Only 4% of the estates administered exceeded $500,000 in value.
- 2. Value of the Estates Administered:
The total value of all estates administered during the ten year period by St. Louis financial institutions aggregated nearly a quarter of a billion dollars ($229,809,972). This is an average of $22,980,997 per year.
- 3. Estates Administered by St. Louis Union Trust Company
The value of estates administered by St. Louis Union during this 10 year period was $113,090,929 or 49% of the total.

These figures show that the total value of the property administered by trust companies is large. They show that the majority of the people who name trust companies to administer their estates are moderately well to do while only a small minority are people of substantial wealth. They show that the St. Louis Union Trust Company is the public's first choice among St. Louis financial institutions for the administration of estates.

EXPLANATORY NOTE:

1. The valuation figures of estates are those shown in the official Missouri Inheritance Tax Appraisal.
2. Real Estate is not included in the valuation, since real estate ordinarily does not come into the hands of the executor but passes direct to the heirs or devisees.
3. Estates of less than $500.00 are not included in the valuation totals.
4. Our study ended with the year of 1932 and does not include 1933 because the records for that year are comparatively incomplete, since many 1933 estates are still in process of administration.
5. Except in the case of the few estates administered elsewhere than in St. Louis or St. Louis County, all of our information is compiled from the official public records of the Probate Courts in St. Louis and St. Louis County.

HUGH W. THOMASSON'S COUSINS GET $2100 AWARDS IN SUIT

Three women sued E. M. Thomasson of Denver after he sought to block Sanitary Hearing.

Three cousins of the late Hugh W. Thomasson were awarded judgments of $2100 each yesterday by a Federal Court jury in their damage suits against E. M. Thomasson of Denver.

The three women, Ella F. Boles, Charlotte Louis Welborn, and Elmina Townsend, had each asked for $100,000, alleging they were embarrassed and humiliated by an injunction suit filed by E. M. Thomasson in which he sought, unsuccessfully, to prevent a sanitary hearing for Hugh Thomasson, which the cousins sought.

Allegations in the injunction suit, they testified, made it appear that they were not acting in the interest of Thomasson, but were seeking to gain his fortune. All three testified that E. M. Thomasson was not related to Hugh Thomasson.

No testimony was heard in behalf of the defendant, and he was not represented in court. His attorney, Robert M. Zeppenfeld, said later he did not know the case was set for trial and that he would ask that the verdict be set aside and a new trial ordered.

EXPERT EXPLAINS DUST EXPLOSION THAT KILLED SEVEN

U. S. Engineer Says Blast in Grain Elevator Probably Was Set Off by Spark or Friction.

Corn dust, the explosion of which killed seven men and injured five others at the Missouri Pacific grain elevator at the foot of Primrose street last May 8, probably was ignited by a spark or friction fire at the bottom of a vertical conveyor in the head house, Dr. David J. Price, engineer in charge of dust explosion investigation for the United States Department of Agriculture, told the engineering division of the St. Louis Safety Council last night at the Gallaudet School auditorium. The property loss was $125,000.

Dr. Price, who with his assistant, Hynton R. Brown, made an investigation of the explosion last spring, for the first time last night made public the complete report of his study. Officers of the fire department and engineers from large industrial establishments where care must be taken to prevent explosion of grain dust, saw dust, starch or other carbonaceous dusts, were present.

"The running of corn over a screen bottom chute at the southwest corner of the head house was the operation that produced the heavy dust cloud," Dr. Price explained. "The fire-blackened walls there, as well as an examination of the damaged equipment, indicates the original ignition was caused at this point by a spark or friction fire at the bottom of the vertical conveyor into which corn was flowing as it passed over the chute."

Spark or Friction Suggested Causes.

A spark caused by a loose metal bucket on the conveyor striking against another bucket or piece of metal, or the generation of sufficient heat to cause fire by a bolt out of alignment, were suggested as possible causes of ignition.

"Testimony of witnesses who saw flames rushing upward through the house on the work floor level and of others who heard the original explosion or saw a flash of light from the work floor leaves little doubt as to the point of origin," Dr. Price added.

"An examination of the damaged equipment indicates the path of flame travel was upward through the house from the work floor level and that the final heavy and destructive explosion occurred in the upper part of the house when the dust cloud around the scales and gars was ignited by the flash from below."

If the explosion had occurred in the type of plant common 10 or 15 years ago, the speaker declared, scores of others employed in storage bins and elsewhere about the elevator would have been killed.

Window Area Provided Vent.

"This explosion has served as a proving ground for many of the recommendations made for fire and explosion protection by the Department of Agriculture," he said. "Credit should be given to both the builders and operators for their efforts to provide this protection. The large window area served as a vent for the explosion pressure, demonstrating the value of the recommendation that not less than one square foot of vent be provided for 80 cubic feet of volume in a cubical-shaped structure. In this case there was about one square foot for each 75 cubic feet. The use of top-hinged sash or frames set less firmly in the concrete wall would have been even more effective."

"The elimination of direct tunnel connections between the workhouse and storage section and placing of steel partitions in the galleries served to segregate the headhouse and prevented the spread of the explosion to the storage section. All of the six automatic fire doors to close belt openings through walls operated perfectly."

"The use of floor sweeps and dust removal equipment, elimination of ledges by smooth construction fire-resistant construction and covered bins were other factors of value. The use of sounding ropes to measure contents of bins as practiced in this plant is preferable to the use of extension lights but lead or non-sparking metal should be used instead of iron."

Bin Appliance Urged.

"The use of deflector plates or some method of deflecting grain entering a bin so it will drop straight down instead of striking the side of the bin is recommended. Metal or foreign material in the grain may strike a spark when it is thrown against the side of the bin."

About 20,000 industrial plants in the United States are subject to the hazards of dust explosions, Dr. Price said. These plants normally employ 1,325,000 persons and manufacture annually products valued at 10 billion dollars. In the last 15 years, the period for which accurate records are available, there have been 387 dust explosions in connection with handling or processing grain.

Dr. Price, who also is chairman of the Dust Explosion Hazards Committee of the National Fire Protection Association, said safety codes developed by the organization had been effective in control and prevention of dust explosions.

MUSICIANS UNION TO PLAY FOR THE ZIEGFELD FOLLIES

It Has Signed Contract; President Explains Protest Against Use of Auditorium.

The local Musicians' Union has signed a contract to furnish musicians for the Ziegfeld Follies at the Municipal Auditorium Opera House, the week of Nov. 4, although it sent a letter to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment protesting against the leasing of the Auditorium to the Follies.

"It was not a union protest," explained Samuel P. Meyers, president of the local union, "but merely an effort to aid theater operators. We feel that such a lease is obviously unfair to theater operators, who are dependent on commercial rentals to pay their taxes and keep their theaters from deteriorating. They cannot be expected to compete with a civic institution operating on a tax-free basis. We would prefer that the Auditorium be converted into a municipal market, but since it is not a union argument, we will play if the Auditorium is leased."

MISSOURI LANDSCAPE MURAL ON CITY HOSPITAL WALLS

Joseph Jones, Working Under PWA, Decorating Division No. 8 of Institution.

A mural, depicting a conventional Missouri landscape, is being placed on the walls of Division No. 8 at City Hospital by Joseph Jones, young St. Louis artist, who is working twice a week on the mural under the PWA.

Division No. 8, where tubercular patients are cared for until their removal to Koch Hospital, is a large ward of hexagonal shape in the center of the hospital group of buildings. Two of the eight walls have been covered. The mural depicts a river scene, and when completed will form a continuous landscape broken only by windows in each section of the walls. Only the upper part of the 15-foot walls will be occupied by the mural. The lower part will be painted in a solid green.

Jones has won several prizes with his work at exhibitions here. He conducted art classes for the unemployed at the old Court-house, and with the aid of several of his pupils, painted a mural depicting social unrest. This mural, and his modernistic teachings, were frequently criticized by members of the Art League.

NEW BRIEF BY CITY IN GAS RATE FIGHT

Reduction of $1,000,000 a Year in Charges to Consumers Sought.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 18.—The law department of the City of St. Louis today filed with the State Public Service Commission a 373-page brief in support of its application for a substantial reduction of gas rates in St. Louis which has been before the Commission in various forms since 1927.

The city again asserts, as it has before, that the fair present value of the property of the Laclede Gas Light Co. does not exceed $28,000,000; that under present conditions 6 per cent would be a fair return on the investment, and that on the present volume of business a reduction of at least $1,000,000 a year in rates collected from gas users would be justified.

Company Figures On Value.
Although in the present case the company has not set out a specific valuation to which it thinks it is entitled, it has presented testimony to support a reproduction new, less depreciation, appraisal of approximately $56,000,000. In its balance sheet it carries its property, plant and investment at $59,165,287. The company's gross operating revenue last year was $5,739,590 and a reduction of $1,000,000, on the same volume of business, would mean a rate decrease of about 15 per cent.

The city's brief, prepared by City Counselor Charles M. Hay and Associate Counselor Forrest G. Ferris Jr., argues forcefully for 6 per cent as a maximum rate of return for the gas company under present depression conditions. In this respect it opposes the company's contention, supported by its witnesses, that it is entitled to a return of 8 per cent.

"Appeal to Common Sense."
"Certainly it should appeal to common sense," the city's brief says, "that a company enjoying a virtual monopoly of a necessity, and operating in a great city under a franchise which it deems perpetual, and with the financial support, aid and comfort of a great holding company, should be satisfied with a tax-free net income of 6 per cent at a time when most businesses and individuals were struggling to survive."

The reference to the holding company means the Utilities Light & Power Corporation of Chicago, which controls Laclede Gas Light Co.

Kill that COLD!

Don't Merely Coddle It With Half-Way Measures!

A cold is nothing to trifle with! It may end seriously. A cold, being an internal infection, calls for an internal treatment. It also calls for a COLD remedy and not something good for a number of other things as well.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is expressly a cold remedy. It is direct and internal—and it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippy feeling and tones and fortifies the entire system. Anything less than that is taking chances with a cold. Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is sold by all druggists, 30c and 50c. Accept no substitute.

Are you drinking Hand-made or "Cooker" whiskey?

AT LEAST 85% of the whiskey being made and sold on the American Continent is "cooker" whiskey. Only 15% is produced by the hand-made method.

How can you tell which you are getting? Not by the labels on the bottles. But you can tell by comparing the flavor of any "cooker" whiskey against that of Four Roses and Paul Jones.

For Four Roses and Paul Jones are produced by the hand-made method—with the rich bouquet and full-bodied, mellow flavor that has always distinguished true American whiskeys. "Cooker" whiskey is thinner, flatter. And here's why.

The "cooker" process is cheaper and faster. It speeds up the fermentation of the grain—and it yields three more quarts of liquor from every bushel of grain. But in doing that, this process produces a mediocre whiskey—and all the aging in the world can't make that whiskey good.

Four Roses and Paul Jones are made by the slow, old-fashioned method that allows the grain to ferment naturally. In using this method, Frankfort sacrifices 3500 gallons of whiskey every day. But Frankfort knows from four generations of experience that this is the only way truly great whiskey can be made—the only way we can give Four Roses and Paul Jones the superior quality and exquisite flavor that have made them America's favorites.

Kentucky for Bourbon—Maryland for Rye
The place where a whiskey is made is vital.

Frankfort makes all its whiskeys exclusively in Kentucky and Maryland. For only in these two States can you get the sparkling pure limestone water that is absolutely necessary to give whiskey the full-bodied richness it should have.

Four Roses and Paul Jones are aged right, too—naturally aged in charred oak barrels in U. S. bonded warehouses under the most rigid government supervision in the world. No tricks! No tampering! No spirits or neutral whiskey added!*

And Four Roses and Paul Jones are all whiskey when you buy them—all fine, mellow Kentucky and Maryland whiskey. No spirits or neutral whiskey added!*

Test them—compare them!

We invite you to test Four Roses and Paul Jones against any other whiskey made—and especially against any of the "cooker" whiskeys now flooding the market. Test Four Roses and Paul Jones against these whiskeys straight—for bouquet and flavor. And be sure to try Four Roses and Paul Jones in highballs, cocktails and other mixed drinks. You'll quickly discover how much finer these drinks are when they're made the way they were intended to be made—with genuine, hand-made American whiskey.

AUTO ACCIDENTS IN CITY INCREASE

Director of Streets Suggests Drivers' License Law Be Considered.

A marked increase in automobile and other traffic accidents during the first nine months of this year is cited by Director of Streets and Sewers McDevitt in a report to Mayor Dickmann recommending that serious consideration be given enactment of a drivers' license law.

McDevitt suggests, also, that the situation be called to the attention of the Board of Police Commissioners and Police Judges Finnegan and Vest.

During the first nine months of this year, McDevitt reported, there were 6899 traffic accidents, an increase of 1281, or 22 per cent, over a similar period last year. These accidents resulted in the death of 120 persons, and injuries to 4026. In a comparable period last year there were 105 deaths and 3311 injuries.

Automobiles accounted for 107 of the traffic fatalities. During the first nine months of last year there were 100 deaths resulting from automobile accidents.

Accidents attributed to drunken drivers increased 72 per cent, from 137 to 236, and there has been a pronounced increase also, McDevitt reported, in accidents where the drivers were "drinking but not drunk."

The report comments on an increase in accidents in which the drivers failed to stop. In accidents involving two automobiles these cases increased from 185 to 483, or 161 per cent, and in accidents involving an automobile and pedestrian the increase was from 60 to 126, or 110 per cent. Thirty-nine per cent of these drivers were apprehended, however, compared with 21 per cent in the corresponding period last year.

Injuries resulting from street car accidents declined from 200 to 111, and railroad accident injuries from 12 to 6.

CAPT. LEO W. ORF STRICKEN WHEN DRIVING HOME, DIES

Retired Army Officer Was Rural Mail Carrier of Baden Office; Victim of Heart Disease.

Capt. Orf, who was 50 years old, saw service in France as a member of the 138th Infantry. He was in charge of munitions trains to the front. He entered the war as a Lieutenant and was promoted to the rank of Captain shortly after arriving in France.

Surviving are his widow, Agnes C. Orf, two daughters, Miss Agnes Orf and Mrs. Virginia Schreck, and his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Orf. Funeral services will be held at 8:15 a. m. Saturday from the Corpus Christi Church, with burial in Calvary Cemetery.

Shot by Gunman at Canton, Ill. Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CANTON, Ill., Oct. 18.—A gunman shot and seriously wounded Arthur Schumacher here last night and fled toward Peoria in a commandeered automobile. The man shot Schumacher when the latter refused to surrender his automobile at the point of a pistol. Schumacher drove to the police station with his assailant clinging to the running board of the car. The gunman later halted an approaching car, from which he forced Elmer Vogelsange and John Tink and fled through town.

A. L.'s Most Valuable.

By Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Players who have received recognition as the most valuable in the American League from 1922 to 1934, were announced today.

1922—George Sisler, St. Louis.
1923—Babe Ruth, New York.
1924—Walter Johnson, Washington.
1925—George Dickson, Washington.
1926—George Burns, Cleveland.
1927—Lou Gehrig, New York.
1928—Mickey Cochrane, Philadelphia.

1930—Lou Gehrig, Washington.
1931—Lefty Grove, Philadelphia.
1932—Jimmie Fox, Philadelphia.
1933—Jimmie Fox, Philadelphia.
1934—Mickey Cochrane, Detroit.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Mickey Cochrane, the "Iron Mike" who led Detroit out of second division to the pennant in his first season as ring master of the Tigers, today was named the most valuable player in the American League for the second time since 1928.

The 35-year-old Detroit manager won the honorary award, voted annually by an eight-man committee representing the Baseball Writers' Association of America, after an unusually spirited duel of ballots with his star second baseman, Charlie Gehringer. Cochrane polled 67 out of a possible maximum of 80 votes to Gehringer's 13.

Eight of the eight ballots cast, Cochrane was named first six, Gehringer on one and Rowe on another.
Of the eight ballots, counting 10 votes each, went to Detroit players. The fact that Cochrane's name did not appear on one ballot resulted in the close point total between himself and Gehringer.

Nineteen players, including stars of every club except the downfallen Senators, received votes. Jimmie Fox, home run slugger of the Athletes and winner of the award last year, was tenth with only 11 votes.
For the first time since the award was made an annual honor in 1922, Babe Ruth's name was missing, even on the honorable mention list of 15 names.

The Baseball Writers' Committee, when named the players, consisted of John Maloney, Boston Post;

Cochrane, the only catcher to receive the most valuable player award in the American League, proved to be one of the most inspiring, dynamic leaders in baseball history as he led the Tigers to the very threshold of a world's championship. He was the big bell weather in the pennant drive, handling his pitchers with superb skill and working in 121 games. He batted .321 and fielded .988, making eight errors all season. Although spiked accidentally in the sixth game of the world series against the Cardinals, "Iron Mike" insisted on leaving his hospital bed and playing the final game until all his men made a total of 10 errors in the series. Mickey didn't make one in 42 chances.

$10,000 Bonus.
The Detroit club, which purchased him from Philadelphia last him a $10,000 bonus.

Philadelphia Athletics, has been named to replace Charles Berry on the American League team which

Buckin' Joe: Can He Hit That Line?

JOE BUKANT, Washington University freshman, whose line bucking feats against the varsity in practice have attracted attention of observers at Francis Field.

Old Grads Popeyed as "Buckin' Joe" Bukant
Bowls Over Tacklers

By J. Roy Stockton

His name is Joe Bukant and they'll be calling him "Buckin' Joe" in another year and by that time, unless all signs fall and all the side-line quarterbacks are wrong, he'll be No. 1 fullback on Jimmy Conzelman's Washington University football team.

"Buckin' Joe" Bukant is that husky freshman ball carrier, built along the lines of Ernie Nevers, who has been attracting so much attention during workouts of the football athletes on the Washington campus.

If you see a husky young man in the Freshman squad, throwing forward passes with so much power that the other boys are having great difficulty in catching them, that's "Buckin' Joe." If you see a freshman charging down the field in scrimmage, leaving a trail of would-be tacklers in his wake, that's "Buckin' Joe."

Football fans who braved the drizzle of yesterday evening to see the Bears practice saw an exhibition of "Buckin' Joe's" power. The freshmen scrimmaged with one of the varsity squads and to top off the practice, the freshmen were given the ball in the mouth of their own goal and told to see what Bukant could do.

And "Buckin' Joe" did plenty. Using simple bucking plays, with a half spinner or a feint as the only deception, Joe drove down the Light Field gridiron, at devastating one-man attack. Once he varied the monotony of smashing the line by throwing a forward pass, with the speed and accuracy of a baseball pitcher. But except for that it was just a series of line smashes. "Buckin' Joe" was doing his stuff. Joe can do the other things that a prospective football star should do. He can kick a ball a long distance, even without benefit of what the sport world calls "form." He can run with the speed of a sprinter. He blocks instinctively—that is, he'll learn easily how to do it in the best college manner. He can catch a pass or throw it.

Joe Bukant was all-Illinois fullback last year, playing his fourth season at the Diverson High School. The team was undefeated in 1933 and many a coach hoped that "Buckin' Joe" would pick his college. But let Gale Bullman tell you how he happened to enroll at Washington University.

"Friends of Washington had told Joe about the university's advantages," Bullman explained, "but after leaving high school the boy got a job somewhere in West Virginia. He didn't like the work, lost 10 pounds in a week and about that time he heard that Conzelman was holding a course for high school players at Richmond, Mo., where Jim had a camp for boys during the summer.

"Joe wrote to Conzelman and attended the football course. When I heard about that I knew we'd have Joe at Washington. If a boy could listen to Jim for a week and not be sold, then there wasn't going to be any sale, that's all."

Conzelman conservatively says he considers Bukant a good prospect and a fine addition to his football squad, but the railbirds at Washington are more enthusiastic.

"The greatest young player ever to come out for football in my time," a not too old "old grad" insisted. "Faster and huskier than Nevers when Ernie was a freshman," said another.

"I saw him at high school," from another enthusiast. "They couldn't stop him. Perhaps each of 10 tacklers would slow him up a little and by that time they'd begin to climb on his back. That naturally slows up a man. But with Bukant running, I'd say 10 tacklers would be the required number to do any good."

Bukant, of Lithuanian ancestry,

University City's football team will defend its County League lead tomorrow afternoon in a game with St. Charles High. Normandy plays the other league contest, meeting Ritenour at Normandy tomorrow night. Three non-conference engagements are scheduled, with Principia Academy calling at Wellston tomorrow afternoon, John Burroughs at Clayton, and St. Louis University High at Maplewood on Saturday afternoon.

Kirkwood and Webster Groves have open dates.

Leyhe Is Out.

University City's Indians will lose one of their best players for the rest of the season, as Fred Leyhe, who plays end on offense and tackle on defense, is out with an injured shoulder. Another end is out for a week, Ralph Nutter, out since the first game of the season, being still unable to play.

While the loss of Leyhe will handicap the Indians somewhat, Coach Muhl has a capable replacement in either Tom Hawkins, a tackle, or Alvin Fleishman, a halfback, who will be shifted to end.

Louis Kaufman, halfback, will probably be shifted to end to take Nutter's place.

St. Charles has a 500 record to date in the four games it has played, defeating Central High of the City League, 12-0, and Ritenour last week in a league contest, 26-6. It lost to two strong eleven, Maplewood, winning 19-0, and Kirkwood, 20-0.

The Indians should at least duplicate the Maplewood and Kirkwood scores, and may win even more easily, the power of the Uni-

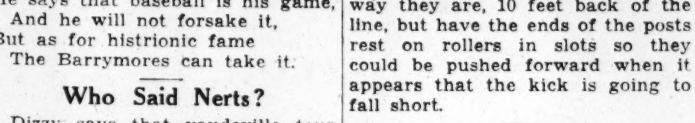

The Great Dean.

Of "greatest value to his club," J. Dean has been elected. Which caused no furore or hubbub. As it had been expected. Though zero "Diz" perhaps would rate. Among savants and scholars, His value experts estimate Around a million dollars.

He looks upon a stage career With more or less suspicion. So from him actors needn't fear A lot of competition. Though in the box he's not averse To speak in public on the stage. And to the footlights foot it. He says that baseball is his game. And he will not forsake it. But as for histrionic fame The Barrymores can take it.

As a full-fledged member of the Chamber of Commerce, Dizzy will soon be putting it over the plate as an after-dinner speaker. And then he'll wish he was back in vaudeville.

The Play's the Thing.

Bill Shakespeare is back at Notre Dame where the plays are divided University City team making it improbable that St. Charles will make a close game of it.

Normandy, still in the race for the title, was tied by Maplewood last week. In that game, Ed Scannell, regular guard, received further injuries and will be out for a week. Norman Myers, tackle, has been out for a week, and will also miss tomorrow's game.

Carl Roth, just back from the sick list, will take Myers' tackle, while Jack McQuade will be in the guard position.

Normandy is favorite.

Ritenour appears to be one of the weakest of the league eleven this year, and the Vikings should win by a large score.

Maplewood plays the most interesting of the non-conference clashes, meeting Tom Stanton's Junior Billikens. The game will be interesting in that it will furnish a comparison between the preparatory league teams, Maplewood having lost to C. E. C. in the first game of the season, 6-0.

An interesting experiment in league soccer will be attempted tonight, when two clubs of the St.
Louis Soccer League play a match at the Normandy High School field under flood lights. It is the first time in the history of the game here that a league game has been played at night.

Billy Gonnale will be at inside right for the Centrals against the Hellrung and Grimm team tonight.
It was announced today by Andy Fredrick, who is managing the team for Jack Dwyer. Gonnale missed last Sunday's opening game of the season and the Centrals lost to the Marre's, 2-1. Gonnale's return should strengthen the forward line, but there is a possibility that Jimmy Roe will be unable to start because of a leg injury suffered last Sunday. If Roe needs a further rest, Eddie Kane will take his place between Willie McLean and Joe Phelan.

The Centrals' backfield will remain unchanged except that Jim Tracy may be given a trial. He is a Municipal League graduate.

Phil Kavanaugh said today that he was very much pleased with the showing his team made in the opening game when it held the recharge is 25 cents for adults, 10
cents for children.

He contemplates no changes, but one of his star halfbacks, Ray Egan, is complaining of a bruised thigh, and he may not start. Ralph Tracy makes a valuable halfback reserve.

Play at Normandy. Field will start at 8:30 p. m. and the periods will be of 45 minutes each. Jimmy Dunn will referee. The admission charge is 25 cents for adults, 10
cents for children.

District Highway Engineer Outlines Work in Madison and St. Clair Counties.

The $1,000,000 road construction program for Madison and St. Clair counties, for which a grant of $335,000 has been authorized by the PWA, was outlined yesterday by Capt. S. F. Wilson, district highway engineer of the Illinois Department of Highways. The program, except for the PWA grant, will be paid for out of the State motor fuel tax. It includes the following five pieces of construction in Madison County:
The building of an overpass across the railroad tracks at Madison on State Highway No. 3, already under construction; the paving of 3.9 miles of State Highway No. 11 from Fairmount City to Collinsville; the paving of five miles of State Highway No. 159 from Mayville to Leclaire; construction of a concrete road on State Highway No. 150 through Alhambra and Olive townships; and the paving of a mile of State Highway No. 3 through Hartford.

In St. Clair County the program includes the paving of 2.6 miles on State Highway No. 11 from the Ninth Street subway in East St. Louis to the Madison County line and the paving of six miles of highway around the northern city limits of Belleville. Capt. Wilson said the cost of the program in Madison County might be about $800,000 and in St. Clair County about $200,000.

SALVATION ARMY QUITS UNITED RELIEF CAMPAIGN

Withdraws Because Religious and Character Building Activities Would Receive No Support.

The Salvation Army has withdrawn from the Community Fund and United Relief campaign, it was announced today by Forrest C. Donnell, chairman of the army's Advisory Board.
Since the religious and character building activities of the Salvation Army would receive no support from the United Relief campaign, Donnell said, it would be necessary for the army, in any event, to hold a separate campaign for funds to support these activities. The board was of the opinion, Donnell said, that it would be better for the army to make one campaign in behalf of all its activities.

The campaign will start next Jan. 21. Phil Brockman has been appointed chairman of the Steering Committee to lay plans for the campaign.

INCREASING TALK OF NEW INFLATION ALARMS BUSINESS

Roosevelt Tries to Quiet Fears but Washington Expects Further Devaluation of the Dollar.

APPREHENSION OVER THE NEXT CONGRESS

Experience Has Shown President Is Likely to Accede to Strong Demands by Legislators.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—As the year approaches with the opening of the next Congress not far away, there is a conspicuous increase in the volume of talk about new inflation. Virtually every member of Congress is expected to be in the Capitol before the session opens, and without taking steps toward devaluation of the dollar, the new Congress will consist of a majority of those who are in favor of a new inflation.

Business has recently manifested a keen interest in the prospect that the administration has taken unusual measures to quiet the fears of the business community. The Federal Reserve Board, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, and the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, have been busy in the past few days in an effort to reassure the business community that the administration has no intention of devaluing the dollar.

William Randolph Hearst, the newspaper publisher who has been one of the most outspoken critics of the administration, recently was an important guest at the White House. He expressed the following opinion to reporters: "I am not at all confident in the President's wisdom, but I am apprehensive of the 'radicals' in the Congress. I think they will do a great deal of harm, especially in view of the mounting cost of the relief program due to the failure of private industry to recover as had been expected."

Although the administration obviously is eager to create the impression among business men that it has nothing to fear, experience has taught that when Congress makes its demands with sufficient emphasis, the President is bound to accede to them.

WOOD AND CELLULOSE BEING USED FOR CLOTHING IN ITALY

Material Expected to Cut Into Cotton and Wool Importation.

MILAN, Oct. 18.—A large Italian newspaper which has invented a new method for utilizing wood and cellulose for making clothing, has been trying to get its materials in Germany for a long time. It is asserted that the material has been received.

Germany has devised similar processes with consequent falling prices for German and Italian are turning to the first time to their own products. The manufacturers of these products eventually will be able to find their markets.

The new material, manufactured from wood pulp and cellulose fibers, is said to cost somewhat less than cotton, although it is being sold at a price of raw wool. The manufacturers say they can bring the price below that of cotton.

GERMAN CATHOLICS INCREASING FASTER THAN PROTESTANTS

Figures Show Former Are Gaining More Rapidly Than Total Population.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—Roman Catholics in Germany have increased since 1925 at a greater rate than the total population, according to figures published yesterday.

The figures have decreased by 65,000, or about half a million, reduction in the total population of Germany to 68,000,000. The total population of the Reich was set at 68,000,000, an increase of 4.5 per cent compared with the previous figures.

The census takers counted 40,900,000 Protestants and 21,200,000 Catholics. The increase of 2 and 4.8 per cent respectively, so that Protestants are increasing in proportion to the population, whereas Catholics are increasing slightly. A feature of the census was the growth of the Catholic element, those who declared themselves of "no religion" being counted from 1,100,000 to 2,000,000.

U. S. ASKS SUPREME COURT TO RULE ON GOLD CLAUSE

Department of Justice Takes Rail Bond Case to Tribunal Without Waiting for Decision in St. Louis.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Statement that billions of dollars and "perhaps even the financial stability of the National Government" are involved in the question of the validity of the act suspending gold payments, the Government yesterday took to the Supreme Court a case now pending in the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals without waiting for that court to act on it.

The case arose out of the gold clause in bonds issued by St. Louis Iron Mountain & Southern Railway, a part of the Missouri Pacific system.

Some of the holders are demanding payment in gold or its equivalent in currency.

The Government stated that the matter was serious, for should the gold clause be sustained, debtors would have to pay $1.69 in present lawful money for each $1 borrowed. This would arise from the fact that every dollar at present is backed by only 59.06 per cent as much gold as before devaluation.

The Reconstruction Corporation advanced $23,134,800 to the Missouri Pacific, taking as security bonds subordinate to the gold mortgage bonds whose holders are demanding payment of gold.

Should gold payment be required, the Government is apprehensive the RFC's chances of recovering its loan would be materially decreased as would its own chances in getting from the railroad $5,000,000 in unpaid taxes.

Act Sustained in St. Louis.
The Federal District Court at St. Louis sustained the act suspending gold payments, declaring it was impossible in fact and in law to make such payments.

Solicitor-General Biggs of the Justice Department, in his action, stated the Government in supporting the act suspending gold payments desired to have the railroad case considered by the Supreme Court when it heads arguments in a similar case by Norman C. Norman, holder of a Baltimore & Ohio gold bond, which the court has consented to review.

"Billions of dollars of Government securities, more than $21,000,000,000 as of March 1, 1934, now outstanding are affected by the issue," Biggs said in his brief.

"Billions of dollars in securities of railroads, industries, states, cities, etc., are likewise affected. Great numbers of private citizens owe large sums of money evidenced by mortgages, notes and other obligations containing the so-called gold clause."

Vast Amount at Issue.
"The total of all such gold clause obligations issued and outstanding in this country is estimated by responsible persons at from $90,000,000,000 to $125,000,000,000. The solvency of many citizens, industries, and local governments, perhaps even the financial stability of the national Government, may be affected by the determination of this great issue."

"Succinctly the issue is this: Are old obligations to be discharged at the rate of $1.69 for each dollar borrowed?"

Biggs pointed out that there are now pending in various Federal courts about 12 railroad reorganization proceedings and hundreds of corporate reorganization proceedings. It would be impracticable, he said, to effect final plans of reorganization while bondholders are demanding settlement in gold or its equivalent and while their right to do so remained undetermined by the Supreme Court.

MAJORITY UNION ISSUE IS BACK ON CUMMINGS' HANDS

Developments in Houde
Co. Case Likely to Bring Clean Cut Case for Settlement.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Lloyd Garrison, retiring chairman of the National Labor Relations Board, yesterday passed the Houde case back to the Department of Justice. Only last week Attorney-General Cummings had 'declined' it with the announcement that "no immediate action was contemplated."

"It is a dispute over the right of a majority in collective bargaining, perhaps the toughest of all the labor controversies which the Federal Government has attempted to iron out, thus gets a new lease on life. It had been assumed, with Cummings' disclaimer, that it would be allowed to expire quietly."

The Attorney-General gave his explanation for discharging the request of the National Labor Relations Board for civil action in the courts against Houde the fact that it was impossible to make a case out of the evidence developed by the board.

Union Again Makes Request.
Chairman Garrison said yesterday that the union delegated as the official union by a majority vote in the plant was again calling on the management of the Houde Engineering Corporation to bargain collectively. This was expected to bring a clear-cut refusal which would be sufficient to enable the Department of Justice to proceed, Garrison said.

Garrison's board originally denied the plea of the Houde company for the right to bargain with the employees in the plant.

"Through conferences with the Department of Justice," said Garrison, "we came to the realization that their point of view was correct. It is often very difficult to develop a case at law that has appeared superficially to be a clear-cut case."

Blue Eagle Withdrawn.
This was his explanation for the fact that the Department of Justice and the NRA were at variance, the latter having withdrawn the Houde company's blue eagle for failure to comply with Section 7A of the collective bargaining clause of the Recovery Act, while the Attorney-General ruled that there was no cause for legal action.

Garrison will leave at the end of the week for the University of Wisconsin at Madison where he will resume his position as Dean of the law school. President Roosevelt wanted him to stay as chairman of the Labor Relations Board but the university insisted upon his return. Garrison said yesterday that he would not submit his formal resignation until his successor was appointed, and indicated that, if any emergency arose on the board, he might return for a few days to serve as chairman.

French Girl Poisoner of Father Sentenced to Guillotine

VIOLETTE NOZIERES,
EIGHTEEN-YEAR-OLD Parisienne, in court last week during her trial in the Seine Assizes for the murder of her father and the attempted murder of her mother. She gave them overdoses of a common sedative; the father died, the mother recovered. The prosecutor charged that she sought to kill her parents so she would inherit their money to carry on a life of pleasure and gaiety in Paris. The court sentenced her to death by the guillotine.

SUPREME COURT FIGHT ON COMPULSORY DRILL

Counsel for Objectors Barred at California U. Presents His Arguments.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The constitutionality of compulsory military training in land grant universities was challenged yesterday in arguments before the Supreme Court.

John Beardsley of Los Angeles, Cal., counsel for conscientious objectors, said all who had religious scruples against war and military training for war were exempt from military training in the University of California.

He emphasized that the Methodist Episcopal Church, to which Albert W. Hamilton and W. Algonzo Reynolds Jr., two students at the university, belonged, had gone on record opposing compulsory military training.

Wants Decision Reversed.
He said the regents had refused to permit the youths to remain in the university unless they submitted to military training, and asked the Supreme Court to reverse a decision by the California Supreme Court upholding the regents.

One of the privileges and immunities guaranteed citizens of the United States by the 14th amendment, Beardsley declared, was immunity from military training.

The Macintosh case, in which the Supreme Court held an alien must swear to take up arms as a condition of citizenship, was not similar to the present case, he said. That was a case of an alien on whom conditions could be imposed, he declared, while the present case was an assertion of constitutional rights of all citizens. Much emphasis was laid by him on the fact that the Federal Government participated in the compulsory military training through the Reserve Officers' Training Corps.

Comment by Justices.
Chief Justice Hughes suggested that seemingly the controversy presented a matter within the discretion of the regents of the university. Beardsley replied that the Federal Government was interested and that it was not purely a State question because the university had obtained large grants of land from the Federal Government. He admitted that in the Morrill act, making land grants to colleges, military training was suggested as one of the subjects to be taught.

Justice Butler suggested that Minnesota had recently abolished compulsory military training at its university, adding that this action indicated there was no Federal law requiring compulsory military training at land grant colleges.

EVERY BUILDING IN BERLIN TO HAVE BOMBPROOF CELLAR

Defense Plans Call for Razing of Old Structures and 'Safety Isle' Construction.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—Elaborate civilian air defense plans calling for the construction of a gas and bomb proof cellar in every Berlin building were announced today.

Superannuated buildings will be razed and subterranean "safety isles" will be built in the main traffic centers in the "safety first" program disclosed by Emil Van Loeper, Air Defense League leader for greater Berlin.

Construction of a cellar for the average Berlin apartment, Van Loeper said, would cost 500 marks (about $200) and would alleviate unemployment.

The Government, he explained, was unable to assist the program and he indicated funds would be raised by assessments and contributions.

Local attics have been cleared of rubbish and roofs will be impregnated as necessary precautions because "Berlin is in the heart of Europe," said Van Loeper.

35 More Army Officers Promoted.
By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The War Department announced today the promotion of 35 officers of all ranks, bringing the total of promotions since Oct. 1 to 459. Lieutenant-Colonel advanced one rank to the grade of Colonel included: Stuart A. Howard, Hawaii; Harry S. Grier, Ben F. Ristine, John S. Upham, Irving M. Madison, Everett N. Bowman.

A. F. L. COMES OUT AGAINST 5 SENATE G. O. P. NOMINEES

Openly Opposes Re-election of Reed, Walcott, Fess and Hatfield on Labor Records.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The American Federation of Labor opened a direct campaign today against the candidacies of five Republican stalwarts who are seeking election to the Senate.

Establishing another precedent in its political activity, the Federation called on organized labor to work for the defeat of Senators Reed of Pennsylvania; Walcott of Connecticut; Fess of Ohio, and Hatfield of West Virginia, and George M. Bourquin, Republican senatorial nominee in Montana.

The circular letters, signed by William Green, President, and addressed to organized labor in the five states, are the first of a number to be sent out before the November elections.

The letters advised the members to work for the election of Senator Wheeler (Dem.), Montana; Rush D. Holt, young Democratic Liberal, opposing Hatfield in West Virginia; Vic Donahay, opponent of Fess; Representative Francis T. Maloney, contestant of Walcott, and by inference the candidacy of John C. Stennis, Mississippi.

seph W. Guffey, Democratic nominee in Pennsylvania.
Records in Congress Reviewed.
The letters reviewed the records in Congress of Reed, Walcott, Fess and Hatfield. They said each candidate voted against the 30-hour work week bill, for reduction of Federal salaries, for the sales tax and for confirmation of Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina to the Supreme Court after he had upheld what union men call the "yellow dog" contract between employers and workers.
Each letter reminded the members of the Federation's declaration to "stand faithfully by our friends and elect them; oppose our enemies and defeat them."
In the letter to Montana labor, Green said he was sure organized wage earners "had not forgotten the wonderful support given remedial legislation in Congress by Senator Burton K. Wheeler." He said Wheeler was active in the defeat of Judge Parker, voted for the Black 30-hour-week bill, against the sales tax and wage cuts.
Indorsement of Holt.
In indorsing Holt of West Virginia, the Federation took a stand opposite to that of the Railroad Workers' Union, which approved the candidacy of Senator Hatfield. Green wrote, however, that the Federation had decided Holt should be supported in view of his record in the West Virginia Legislature.
As for Donahay, the Federation said that as Governor of Ohio "he was an earnest advocate of measures that would benefit labor and the people generally."
It referred to the record of Representative Maloney of Connecticut, who, as a member of the House Interstate Commerce Committee, backed the railroad pension and mediation bills.

Which three are headed for damaged eyesight?

Mother... you can prevent it, with correct home lighting. Here's what to do

Look at any group of romping youngsters! Bright eyes that came into the world with perfect vision.

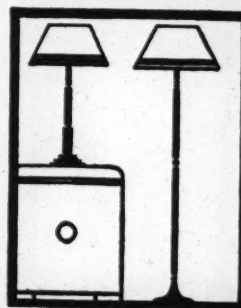

But sixty per cent of the educated adults in this country have damaged eyesight. That means that three out of five children are headed for this sad handicap. And, with the bad lighting in most homes, all five are apt to suffer from needless eyestrain.

Investigations have proved that not more than one home in ten uses electric light effectively—for comfort or eye protection! Yet electricity is cheap—especially here in St. Louis where the rate is so low. And the new floor and table lamps and wall fixtures—correctly designed for seeing—are very inexpensive

Ask your dealer to show you the new Study Lamp built to Illuminating Engineering Society Specifications to give correct lighting intensities without glare. Ask him to show you one of the very popular little Pin-It-Up Lamps that can be hung up or taken down as easily as a small picture. Best of all, let us send one of our Lighting Experts to your home. Free of charge and without obligation, she will check your home's lighting and tell you whether it is what science says is necessary to protect the eyesight of everyone in your family.

The new Study and Reading Lamp—in both table and floor models, meets these requirements for better sight: It eliminates glare. It gives enough light... well diffused as well as spread where needed. It is correct for height, type and size of shade. This lamp is sponsored by the foremost lighting authorities of the world. It will safeguard your children's eyesight. Look for the tag of endorsement marked I. E. S. (Illuminating Engineering Society). From $5.95 to $12.50.

This is the Sight Meter, which measures light just as a thermometer measures heat. Write or call (Main 3222) and have one of our Lighting Experts bring it to your home. This service is free. She has nothing to sell. She will check your home's lighting and advise you.

GOLDSCHMANN IN CITY FOR SYMPHONY SEASON

Conductor to Test Acoustic
Properties of Auditorium
Opera House.

Viadimir Goldschmann, conductor of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, arrived in St. Louis yesterday from New York, after having spent
the summer in France and immediately began laying his plans for the forthcoming symphony season.

Although rehearsals with the orchestra will not begin until Oct.
20, he will be busy preparing programs, consulting with the directors of the symphony and conducting tests, if possible, to determine the exact acoustic effects of the orchestra, playing from the stage of the new Municipal Auditorium Opera House.

The standard classic and romantic symphonies will, as usual, constitute the backbone of the season's program, but many novelties, both contemporary and classic, will be introduced. Among the better known symphonies to be played will be four by Beethoven, including the celebrated Choral Symphony in D.

Minor which will close the season,
two by Brahms, the monumental
C Major Symphony by Schubert
which has not been done in St.
Louis for seven years, two Mozart symphonies and one by Shostakovich.

Among the novelties will be works
by Haskanyi, a Hungarian composer, Fourtet, Gaubert, Mil-hand and Huet, all French composers, a suite by Roger Sessions,

the contemporary American, a chorale and fugue by Zemachian, also an American, a concerto grosso by Corelli and three pieces by Domenico Scarlatti, orchestrated by Alfredo Casella.

All of the soloists have not yet decided on their contributions to the program but it is known that Arthur Schnabel will play Beethoven's G Major concerto and possibly a concerto by Mozart in addition, Heifetz will play the Beethoven violin concerto, Plavinsky will play a Haydn cello concerto and Reveridge Webster, the young American pianist who has studied abroad and is making his first American tour this season, will play the Schumann concerto.

Mr. Goldschmann spent the summer touring in Switzerland and Italy and at Antibes, in Southern France.

He expressed himself as pleased over the fact that the Symphony Society had acquired 1100 new subscribers for the coming season.

This was in contrast to other cities
both in America and Europe where symphony music was having a hard fight to hold its own. He also declared that building up a chamber orchestra to be used in the Beethoven Ninth Symphony would broaden the artistic scope of the orchestra considerably.

U. S. Freightliner Goes Aground
HELGOLAND, Oct. 18.—The United States freighter Tapscott, en route from the United States to Bremen, went aground today
in a storm off the Helgoland coast.

Several tug boats went to the craft's assistance.

GAIN IN TRADE WITH CUBA

Figures Cited to Show Value of Re-iprocal Agreement.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The State Department cited Cuban trade statistics yesterday as proof of the efficacy of its first reciprocal trade agreement, concluded with that country early in September.

The report showed that 900,000
pounds of American hog lard were shipped to Havana in the first week of October, considerably more than the average monthly shipments in 1933. Other heavy increases in canned fruits, onions and potatoes were reported. The Government now has such trade agreements under negotiation with 11
other nations.

S. PARKS ATTRACT MORE VISITORS IN 1934

Mountain and Great Smoky Areas Report Large Increases Over Last Year.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—More people visited the Rocky Mountain National Park in Colorado during the past season than any other national playground in the country, with the exception of Great Smoky Mountains Park in North Carolina and Tennessee.

Figures released by the National Park Service on 1934 travel in national parks and monuments show their increasing popularity, particularly in the West.

Some 365,000 persons visited Rocky Mountain Park, an increase over the 1933 registration of 291,934.
The report shows 109,842 private automobiles entered the park as compared with 83,022 last year.

Yellowstone Park continued as one of the most popular national parks with a registration this year of 290,775, an increase of nearly 100,000 over 1933 when 161,938 persons visited it. Yellowstone reported 75,528 private cars entered the park this year, as against 47,042 last year.

A marked increase in travel also was recorded for Glacier Park in Montana with 166,965 visitors this year as compared with 76,815 in 1933. The park service reported 88,349 visitors to Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico, as against 53,768 in 1933; 21,474 visitors to Mesa Verde

Park in Colorado this year, about 5,000 more than the 1933 figures, and Grand Teton Park in Wyoming had an estimated 75,000 visitors this year as compared with an estimated 42,500 last year.

YOUTH, 18, PLEADS GUILTY OF ATTEMPTING EXTORTION

He Had Threatened Officer of Armour & Co. and Newly Married Daughter.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Dominick Bausano, 18 years old, pleaded guilty before a Federal Commissioner yesterday of attempting extortion of $3000 from Isaac M. Hoagland, vice president and sales manager of Armour & Co.

Bausano, who was arrested Tuesday night by Federal agents at at spot he designated as a trust between himself and agents for the family entrusted with leaving the money, was charged under the Cochran law with sending an extortion letter through the mails.

Bausano, Federal agents said, sent a note threatening Hoagland and his recently married daughter with death unless the money was left in a driveway to an abandoned factory near his home. The note was turned over to the Department of Justice.

GOLDSCHMANN IN CITY FOR SYMPHONY SEASON

Conductor to Test Acoustic
Opera House.

Vladimir Goldschmann, conductor of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, arrived in St. Louis yesterday
from New York, after having spent
the summer in France and immediately began laying his plans for
the forthcoming symphony season.
Although rehearsals with the orchestra will not begin until Oct.
29 he will be busy preparing programs, consulting with the directors of the Symphony and conducting tests, if possible, to determine the exact acoustic effects of
the orchestra playing from the stage of the new Municipal Auditorium Opera House.

The standard classic and romantic symphonies will, as usual, constitute the backbone of the season's programs, but many novelties both contemporary and classic will be introduced. Among the better known symphonies to be played will be those by Beethoven, including the celebrated Choral Symphony in D
Minor which will close the season.

Minor which will close the season,
two by Brahms, the monumental
C Major Symphony by Schubert
which has not been done in St.
Louis for seven years, two Mozart
symphonies and, one by Sibelius.
Among the novelties will be works
by Harshanyi, a Hungarian composer, Fouresterie, Gaubert, Mil-haud and Hoere, all French composers, a suite by Roger Sessions

the contemporary American, a chorale and American, a concerto grosso by Corelli and three pieces by Domeni-
co Scarlatti, orchestrated by Alfre-
do Casella.

All of the soloists have not yet decided on their contributions to the program but it is known that Arthur Schnabel will play Beethoven's G Major concerto and possibly a concerto by Mozart in addition. Heifetz will play the Beethoven violin concerto, Piatigorsky will play a Haydn 'cello concerto and Beveridge Webster, the young American pianist who has studied abroad and is making his first American tour this season, will play the Schumann concerto.

Mr. Goldschmann spent the summer touring in Switzerland and Italy and at Antibes, in Southern France.

He expressed himself as elated
over the fact that the Symphony Society had acquired 1100 new subscribers for the coming season.
This was in contrast to other cities
both in America and Europe where symphony music was having a hard fight to hold its own. He also declared that building up a chorus—the one to be used in the Beethoven Ninth Symphony, would broaden the artistic scope of the orchestra considerably.

U. S. Freighter Goes Aground.
HELGOLAND, Oct. 18.—The United States freighter Topatopa, en route from the United States to Bremerhaven, went aground today
in a storm off the Helgoland coast.
Several tugs went to the craft's assistance.

GAIN IN TRADE WITH CUBA

Figures Cited to Show Value of Reciprocal Agreement.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The State Department cited Cuban trade statistics yesterday as proof of the efficacy of its first reciprocal trade agreement, concluded with that country early in September.

The report showed that 900,000
pounds of American hog lard were shipped to Havana in the first week
of October, considerably more than the average monthly shipments in 1933. Other heavy increases in coal, canned fruits, onions and potatoes were reported. The Government now has such trade agreements under negotiation with 11
other nations.

Old Customs and Modern Methods

THE custom of putting a market basket on the arm and faring forth to stock the family pantry by a tedious tour of personal selection, had both its economic and dietetic advantages.

It was the housewife's way of insuring fresh, wholesome food and meat for her table.

But modern methods have made it unnecessary to go from store to store, inspecting, selecting and bargaining.

The wise housewife reads the food advertising in the Post-Dispatch. She selects a well-balanced, wholesome menu, and then she knows where to buy exactly what she wants.

She has no worries about the freshness of the fruits, meats, and vegetables or the purity and wholesomeness of food in trademarked cans and packages.

She knows that manufacturers and retailers who invest in advertising space thereby guarantee the quality of their products; that their advertising pays them only when they make permanent customers—and that only a satisfied customer is permanent.

She knows these merchants will satisfy her. And she knows that trade-marked products are more economical, although she may not have reasoned that advertising lowers prices by creating more and quicker sales.

From the Home Economics columns of the Post-Dispatch housewives may choose seasonable, wholesome foods with the minimum expenditure of effort and money, and the maximum of satisfaction and pleasure.

Shop this week-end through these columns. Save time and money.

COURT TEST OF SEWER WARRANTS IN COUNTY

John E. Mooney, Charging Excessive Payments, Is Allowed to File Suits.

John E. Mooney, attorney for William Tegethoff, liquidator for St. Louis County sewer districts formed under the Ralph law which was repealed before any sewers were built, obtained approval of Circuit Court yesterday to file a series of suits attacking the validity of warrants he thinks were illegally issued by Boards of Supervisors of the districts.

Mooney, who, as president of the Taxpayers' Protective Association, led the fight for repeal of the Ralph law, said audits of the districts showed excessive amounts were paid engineers and attorneys and that payments advanced, in some instances, exceeded the total amount due them under their contracts.

St. Ferdinand Audit. In the St. Ferdinand Sewer District, supervisors levied a larger tax for preliminary expenses than was necessary for the payment of the obligations of the district, according to an audit by E. F. O'Brien & Co., public accountants. The district's balance sheet shows a surplus of $175,235 as the result of a levy of 10 cents on each 100 square feet in the district.

The audit also questions the validity of payments of $71,083 for engineering services and $38,398 for lawyers, a total of $109,481, pointing out that the surplus would be increased to $284,716 if these payments are found to be improper.

Warrants issued for engineering services amounted to $160,779, with interest of $31,391 bringing this cost to $192,170. The warrants questioned are those issued to Charles C. Koch, $39,914; W. W. Horner, $15,187; Clark E. Jacoby, $5500; Edwin Hancock Engineering Co., $10,420.

Stanley A. Sidmon and Harry W. Fulbright, attorneys for the district, received $49,280 in warrants. Interest of $6814 made on the legal expenses $56,094. Fees of $38,398 are questioned as being in excess of contract provisions.

Supervisors of the St. Ferdinand District issued $266,919 in warrants, bearing interest of $46,311 up to last Dec. 31, bringing the total obligation to $313,230. Warrants for $57,394 and $9055 in interest were paid from collections of the preliminary tax; $66,685 in warrants and $11,752 interest were used to pay tax bills, and $12,840 and $25,503 interest were unpaid.

Of the $432,000 preliminary tax levied, tax bills for $282,383 and penalties of $34,827, a total of $317,211, remain unpaid. Tax bills for $83,031 and penalties of $9593, or $92,624, were paid in cash and warrants for $66,685 with accumulated interest of $11,752 were used to offset this amount of additional tax bills.

Aim of Liquidator. Mooney explained that the liquidator would seek to lower the tax levy made by supervisors in the St. Ferdinand District because of the present surplus and warrants of doubtful validity. The question of the validity of the warrants must be established before the amount of the tax reduction may be determined, however.

Digests of the audit will be distributed to members of the Taxpayers' Protective Association at a meeting tomorrow night at Vogt High School, 200 Church street, Ferguson.

G. LOCKE TARLTON SUES, ALLEGES FLAW IN TITLE

Contents He Lost Opportunity to Re-sell Building Purchased in East St. Louis.

A suit in equity was filed in East St. Louis City Court yesterday by G. Locke Tarlton, contractor, against Anthony J. Nulsen, the Southern Illinois Trust Co. and eight tenants of the Coloma Building, 245 Collinsville avenue.

The suit alleged there was a flaw in the title to the property, which was sold by Nulsen to Tarlton in 1927 for $100,000. Tarlton gave $25,000 cash and a $75,000 mortgage. According to the petition, it has developed that there was a lapse in the title in 1866. Tarlton asks the Court to cancel his note and mortgage, and to require Nulsen to pay back expenses of maintenance, less rents collected. He estimates that improvements, taxes and upkeep have cost him $63,976, while rents totaled but $42,912.

The petition stated that the present owner had an opportunity to sell the property for $177,500 last May, but lost the sale because he could not deliver a clear title.

PHYSICIAN KILLED IN FALL FROM HOSPITAL WINDOW

Open Verdict in Fatality at Missouri Baptist Institution.

Dr. Leander D. Keith, 68-year-old physician of Anna, Ill., was killed last night in a fall from a third floor window at Missouri Baptist Hospital, where he was a patient.

A coroner's open verdict was returned today, the manner in which he fell not being determined. He was missed at 7:45 o'clock and the body was found on a concrete driveway below his room.

Dr. Keith was taken to the hospital yesterday by his son, Dr. J. Keith, also of Anna. The son testified at the inquest that his father had suffered from amnesia and occasionally lost all sense of direction.

NEW FIGHT IN COURT OVER CHURCH'S NAME

Ruthenians in St. Louis Congregation Charge Discrimination by Pastor.

Suit for an injunction to prevent the Rev. Joseph Haniak, pastor of St. Mary's Assumption Ruthenian Greek Catholic Church, 1120 Dolman street, from denying to a Ruthenian element membership rights in his congregation was taken under advisement yesterday by Circuit Judge Green.

The suit was filed by 24 complainants from the Carpathian Mountains, Ruthenia, now a province of Czechoslovakia. They charge that the pastor and a group of his adherents, who are named as co-defendants, favor a nationalistic Ukrainian movement, uniting the Ruthenian and other Slavic peoples, and he devotes his sermons to that purpose, discriminating against the petitioners.

Previous Court Order. It was pointed out that last February the pastor and others endeavored to drop Ruthenian from the church name, substituting Ukrainian, but were prevented from doing so by an order issued by Circuit Judge Cahoun.

In the case before Judge Green it is also sought to oust Father Haniak as pastor and president of the church corporation. It is alleged he was removed with other officers last July and they are wrongfully in charge of the property. This is denied by the defendants, who say some of the petitioners were elected trustees at a meeting which was not legally called.

On the other hand the petitioners charged that at an election conducted by the pastor they were not permitted to vote, although they were in good standing. Father Haniak testified some of the complainants had not paid their church dues while others lost their rights as members because they did not perform their Easter duties.

Paul Dillon, counsel for the defense, asked the court to dismiss the case on the ground the dispute was one which should be settled by church tribunals, and that a good Catholic is always under obedience to go to church courts in such matters. John C. Vogel, representing the petitioners, said since St. Mary's Church operated under a charter authorized by the State the case was in the right tribunal.

In support of his view Dillon called the Rev. Joseph P. Donovan, professor of canonical law at Kenrick Seminary, who explained the law of the church. Father Donovan said the church provided a tribunal in which the case could be adjusted. St. Mary's Church, the court was informed, is under the jurisdiction of the Slavic Bishop at Philadelphia, who appointed Father Haniak in July, 1932, and an appeal could have been made to him.

Father Haniak's Position. Father Haniak denied he was opposed to the Ruthenians but he told the court that a majority of the membership preferred the name Ukrainian.

"I want to get all my people together and I preach sermons according to the gospel," he said. He denied that he referred to Ruthenians as monkeys, as one witness said. He said his heart was with all his people.

"We have two names—Ruthenia and Ukraina, but I prefer the latter, and so do the majority," he added.

It is said that most of the members or their ancestors came from the Ukrainian country, which is east of Ruthenia. Father Haniak said his salary was $120 a month and that he could not leave his present post unless ordered to do so by the Bishop.

BANKRUPTCY ACTION AGAINST CAPE GIRARDEAU BRIDGE CO.

Stockholders Seek to Prevent Sale at Foreclosure by Reorganization Under Federal Law.

By the Associated Press.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., Oct. 18.—A petition asking that the Cape Girardeau Bridge Co. be placed in bankruptcy was filed in Federal Court here yesterday in an effort to prevent sale of the local Mississippi River traffic bridge under mortgage foreclosure. The bridge company has been in receivership since July 8, 1932, and has defaulted in payment of $1,000,000 in first mortgage bonds.

District Judge Charles B. Faris, in a preliminary order two days ago, appointed E. J. Deal of Cape Girardeau a special master to order sale of the company to satisfy the mortgage. A formal order of sale, however, has not been entered. Judge Faris has not acted on the bankruptcy petition.

Stockholders owning $600,000 of preferred stock filed the bankruptcy request, explaining their investment probably will be wiped out if the bridge is sold immediately. They hope for some salvage if their petition is approved and a reorganization effected under the amended bankruptcy law.

THREE WHO HAD COUNTERFEITS HELD FOR FEDERAL OFFICERS

Three men, found in possession of counterfeit half dollars, were arrested last night and held for Federal officers.

The first man caught, who said he was Orange Haywood Scott, 26 years old, attempted to pay for a glass of beer with a counterfeit coin in a tavern at 104 North Tenth street. He told police he thought the coin was good and said he was rooming at 1002A Chestnut street. In his room police found two men who said they were James C. Hawkins, 25 years old, and Russell A. Howell, 25.

Each, the police said, had a counterfeit coin, while in the room were 37 counterfeits, a pot of rabbit metal and molds for making the coins.

And that's What YOU would Say,
After Making the
"Liquid Test" Described Here

DAVID H. WADSWORTH
Cold Springs, Kentucky, discovered the value of a liquid laxative about three years ago, and would never use violence again in relieving a constipated condition.

If, by making one little change, you could relieve a condition of sluggishness within 24 hours, and feel about 100% better—would you do it?

David Wadsworth did. You can do the same. All that is necessary is to get your bowels in the right condition. But you can't do that by doing them violence.

Doctors and hospitals use liquid laxatives. They've seen the damage sometimes done by highly concentrated drugs in the form of pills or tablets! They know that a properly made liquid laxative containing senna (a natural laxative) does not do this harm. And they use a liquid laxative to relieve the bowels, because the dose can be easily regulated.

To Relieve Bowels

Constipated or sluggish bowels can never be corrected with violent purgatives. They can be safely relieved with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin without forming the laxative habit.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative made from fine herbs, pure pepsin, senna and rascara. It is most agreeable to take.
The comfortable bowel movement from Syrup Pepsin is a joyful relief from the violent action of strong mineral drugs!

If you are a victim of "sluggish bowels"; an occasional sufferer from constipation, here's the secret of prompt and safe relief until nature restores your regularity. Use a liquid laxative.

Start tonight with Syrup Pepsin.
If necessary to repeat the dose use less each day, until the bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

If there is an occasional return of the trouble, Syrup Pepsin will comfort and relieve you again, as easily as it did the first time you ever took it.

Ask any druggist for a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and make the "liquid test."

HAVE SPORT BUT SAVE DUCKS, U. S. APPEAL TO THE HUNTERS

Biological Survey Calls for Limit On Kill Because of Scarcity.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The Bureau of Biological Survey appealed to the nation's hunters to limit their kill of ducks this fall to a sporting number.

Asserting the waterfowl population had been depleted seriously by the drying up of nesting places in drought states, the Bureau emphasized the need for conserving a breeding stock to repopulate breeding areas and nesting grounds the Government is establishing under its wild life restoration program.
"Have sport, but save ducks," is suggested by the Bureau as a slogane for sportsmen. The Bureau suggests that hunters be satisfied with fewer days of shooting and smaller bags than the law allows.
Hunters are also urged to retrieve all crippled birds and to co-operate with wardens to prevent poaching.

J. N. Darling, chief of the survey, said a crisis was at hand "in which every effort should be made to preserve as many birds as possible."
Darling cautioned sportsmen against being misled by early flights or local concentration of ducks.

After studying conditions on the delta of the Saskatchewan River in August, L. J. Goldman of the Bureau Staff of Biologists reported:
"The region is a duck paradise, but I doubt that I saw more than 2000 ducks in several days." He reported a similar scarcity in other areas visited.

BOND OF MAN ON TRIAL IS INCREASED TO $10,000

Judge Acts When State Says Conviction Under Habitual Criminal Act Is Sought.

The bond of Edward Gissing, 25-year-old ex-convict, on trial for burglary at Clayton, was raised from $1500 to $10,000 by Judge Mueller at the close of yesterday's session of court. Unable to make the new bond, Gissing was held in jail.

The request for the higher bond was made by Assistant Prosecuting Attorney McNatt, who told Judge Mueller that the State would ask for the maximum penalty of 15 years under the habitual criminal act and that the original bond was therefore insufficient.

Gissing is charged with the second-degree burglary of the Lister Drug Store, North and South road and Delmar boulevard, University City, on last April 8. He was arrested by Deputy Constables sitting in an automobile outside the store.
When the deputies approached, he threw a revolver out of the car.
The deputies exchanged shots with another man who fled out of a back window of the store, but failed to capture him.

Gissing was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary for robbery in St. Louis in 1927 and two years for attempted robbery the same year.

PONZI RETURNS TO ITALY AND STARTS MAKING PLANS

Deported Promoter "Glad to Be Home Again," Talks of Nation That Ousted Him.

NAPLES, Oct. 18.—Charles Pon-zi, laughing at his own words "glad to be home again," rushed from the third-class quarters aboard the liner Vulcania today full of political predictions about the United States.
The get-rich-quick promoter whose plans brought ruin to investors in the United States and 12 prison years to himself, kept his fellow passengers amused, they said, during his deportation trip to his native land.

In a moment of solemnity Ponzi said, "The destiny of the United States is either Fascism or Communism. Roosevelt is a good man and I hold him in great esteem, but America cannot go ahead under his present political system."

The penniless Ponzi said he would not return to his native Parma in Southern Italy but would go to Rome, where "I hope to open either a tourist agency or a hotel." Ponzi said, "My one regret in leaving America is in leaving my wife there, and I still have financial affairs there."

U. S. BRIDGE TEAM GAINING FOUR PERSONS SHOT IN FIGHT BETWEEN POLICE AND ROBBERS

Narrows Lead of British Challenge-ers to 3070 Points.
By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 18.—America's bridge team defending the Schwab Trophy had narrowed the gap between it and the British challengers to 3070 points when play was resumed today. A spurt by the visitors last night made the score: England, 58,690 points; America, 55-620 points, with 180 of the 300 hands played.

Amusement instead of any great amount of worry marked the reaction of players and officials to statements of a "phantom" British committee composed of Lieutenant-Colonel W. Buller and Capt. Ewart Kempson, who write bridge for newspapers. They accused Ely Culbertson, American captain, of attempting to be the tournament's
"dictator." Culbertson replied, calling Buller chairman of "a self-appointed committee of one" with Capt. Kempson as kibitzer. Buller and Kempson came back with a blast at Culbertson and censured Capt. Walshe of the English team, who had sided with the American.

PATTERSON ASSERTS LIBERTY IS PASSING UNDER NEW DEAL

Says Policy in Time Will Reduce People and Industry to Level of Soviet Russia.

By the Associated Press.

PERRYVILLE, Mo., Oct. 18.—Senator Roscoe C. Patterson, Republican nominee for re-election, said in a campaign speech here last night that under the "New Deal" the "Liberty and freedom America has known from its foundation is passing from the state."

"Labor and industry," he said, "are told when, where and how long they may work and the wage to be paid. Should this administration obtain a further lease of power, we can expect the encroachment on the business and the lives of our citizens to continue, and an expansion of the policy of government competition with private industry. This in time will reduce the American people and American industry to the level of Soviet Russia."

"It may appear to the 'New Dealers' that when an American business man cannot enter a legitimate business of his own choosing, or when anyone in such business cannot extend his activities without getting the consent of some bureaucratic dictator, that such is not a curialment of American liberty, but if so, such 'New Dealer' has no conception of what American liberty means, and apparently gets his ideas and ideals from some foreign country."

CHICAGO RALLY CHECKS WHEAT AFTER IT GOES UNDER DOLLAR

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Material new discounts of grain values early today followed increased weakness of the Liverpool wheat had as well as further extension of the market, as well as further rains in domestic drought areas. There were also forecasts of an early harvest in Argentina.

Opening  $\frac{1}{8}$  @  $1\frac{1}{2}$  lower, May 99 $\frac{3}{4}$  @  $\frac{1}{2}$ , wheat afterward underwent an additional sag. Corn started  $\frac{1}{4}$  @  $\frac{1}{2}$  off, May 79 $\frac{3}{4}$ , and subsequently steadied.

With Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Missouri reporting moisture that furnished at least temporary relief from drought effects, all wheat futures in Chicago fell quickly below a dollar a bushel. Numerous points in Kansas noted rains continuing today and predictions were for showers by tonight through virtually the entire United States wheat belt, both winter and spring crop territory.

Fair buying support, however, developed at 99 cents for May wheat contracts and this checked price setbacks.

Rallies that ensued in wheat values were associated with cable advices saying that Russia had bought wheat ahead of the

Contributing to wheat price upturns was the relative strength of the corn market and of oats. Corn traders gave special attention to reports that much corn territory in Iowa and Nebraska presented a bumper crop.

GASOLINES ARE different, TOO!

IF YOU want to buy gasoline CHEAP, by all means get Phillips UNIQUE.

It is a good gas at a cut price . . . an excellent value because it more than meets U. S. Government specifications for Motor Grade gasoline. In every way it is equal or superior to other motor fuels sold at a similar cut price.

But if you want the MOST ECONOMICAL gasoline, we frankly do not recommend this cut-price grade. We sincerely say that you will save more money and get more pleasure out of motor-ing with Phillips 66 . . . the greater gasoline.

Phillips 66 Gasoline is our "pet." We pamper it. We put into it every bit of value possible with the most modern scientific equipment and methods. We spare no expense to make it really different.

It contains Lead Tetraethyl to give it the highest possible anti-knock at its price. Its high test rating (gravity) is always at the highest point possible under our process of CONTROLLED VOLATILITY, which matches Phillips 66 to your location and weather.

Because Phillips originated this pre-adjustment of gasoline to climate at the refinery, and has been doing it for a longer time; our facilities and experience in this respect are greater than those of other refiners. That's why Phillips 66 is the "100% custom-tailored gasoline."

It starts cold motors with split second speed. Needs less choke and hence delivers more miles per gallon. Reduces vibration and increases power. Cuts down noise and steps up speed. And it simply can't be beat for acceleration by any other gas even at a higher price.

These are the results you actually feel in your car, results that prove there is a difference. Get the money-saving facts for yourself by getting a trial tankful at any Orange and Black 66 Shield.

10,000,000 Paupers?
Dangerous Vanity.
The Stoll Kidnaping.
Castor Oil Curfew.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.
(Copyright, 1934.)

Twelve states action has been taken to keep from voting all American citizens listed on "red lists" on the ground that, "as paupers," they should not vote. President Roosevelt denounces as un-American any such procedure. No man out of work but willing to work can be called a pauper, says the President, and 10,000,000 out of work will say "amen."

Vanity is dangerous, the dead King Alexander testifies to it. Before he left his ship at Marseilles he put on one of two bullet-proof vests that he had always with him. But the Admiral's uniform, chosen for the occasion fitting in a straight tight line from the shoulders down to the waist, fitted badly over the bullet-proof vest. The King kept on the coat and left off the vest that could have stopped the bullets that went into his heart and lungs.

Vanity has done its most serious harm in causing men to exaggerate their own importance and success, and stop trying when their work should have been just beginning. When a man begins to think that his personal appearance is important in his past achievements are great he is about "through."

Mrs. Stoll, kidnaped, returned to her family by Federal agents, asks for leniency for Mrs. Francis Robinson, wife of the kidnaper. There probably will be little leniency, however, if Mrs. Robinson is proved to have been a conspirator in the kidnaping.

Mrs. Stoll was taken across state lines, which, under the Federal law, makes kidnaping punishable by death. The actual kidnaper, Thomas H. Robinson Jr., may escape the full penalty on the ground of insanity. He is a discharged lunatic.

If captured again and locked up, there should be no more "discharge" except by the undertaker.

There is much recklessness in discharging maniacs and idiots in this country, especially when criminal weakness of mind is known. Stoll, locked up as feeble-minded after being convicted of various crimes and discharged, proceeded to kill and burn the body of a 5-year-old girl.

Edwardsville, Pa., has a curfew law forbidding children under 14 to be on the streets after 9 at night. Violations of the law have diminished rapidly, from 50 to 12, since it was decided that boys and girls out late must take a dose of castor oil in the town hall, one ounce for the first violation, two for the second, three for the third.

Everybody says it is a splendid idea, but possibly filling children with castor oil and with disgust for law at 14 may not be so very "splendid."

Mussolini is said to have tried the castor oil inducement on many war success.

A young, vicious fool named Edward Lickwala wrote to Edsel Ford "You are on the spot and if you want to live it will cost you $500. Young Mr. Lickwala is now on the spot, and for many years hence will not cost him anything, except such work as he may do in prison."

The extortion clause under the Federal "Lindbergh law" will interrupt Mr. Lickwala's kidnaping fame for a considerable length of time.

In many directions you note that crime does not pay, even when the criminal imagines himself unusually intelligent.

In the Ohio Penitentiary yesterday young "fair-haired" Harry Pierpont, so-called "brains of the Dillinger mob," sat down in a chair from which he never rose. Within one second the Dillinger "brains" had ceased to operate.

"Brains" Pierpont, six feet two, made no last speech, shut his eyes, said nothing as he sat down. He had written to Miss Jessie Levy, lawyer, who defended him, "I'll take this little story with me on my last walk," and he did.

Two hundred men and women guilty of violating traffic rules were invited by intelligent magistrate William J. Farwell, to watch a movie showing automobile accidents.

Small cars were seen recklessly speeding at crossings, dashing into trucks, dead passengers taken out. A stout blonde lady holding in her little fist a summons for "driving while intoxicated," shut her eyes and groaned in anguish when she saw a car go through a fence, roll down a high cliff turning end over

People Who Are Over-Indulged Are Likely to Take as Their Due The Sacrifices Which Others Make

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:
I would like to ask your opinion about a sister I have taken care of like a mother. We were born in a town when we were 14 years old. I went to the city to work. In a little while, I got married and as I kept bettering myself, would get her a better position. I have always denied myself in order to help her.

When I opened a business I took her in with me; and there was enough work for both, I gave her the place and her rent, the advertising and board for one month with the understanding that when she sold, she would turn over my personal things to me. However, she sold these. Later she got married, then was separated from her husband for four months staying at my house, I doing her washing and giving her room and board for nothing. She would bring her husband to my house to stay four or five days. After going back to her husband, they were at my house two and three times a week for meals. In 20 years I had a meal at her house only once, and they are still having working and making good money.

In the last 10 years they have been in Montana. My son and I were sick and wanted to go there, but she wrote that I could stay near and she could come and see me. I wrote again asking if I might come and see her on my business. This last letter she did not answer for five months, then she answered my question. About a month ago they came back (she and her husband) to my house. When I asked an explanation, she denied it until I showed her the letter. Then she left after my reprimand. She of her ungratefulness, saying she didn't know I had done anything for her.

My husband says I was right. Now Carr, but I am worried and would like to know your opinion. M. K. C.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

olly and when I brush it, it becomes so oily that it looks like a Roman pool. If you can do so, comfortably, try sleeping on your back for a time each night without using a pillow. And during the day, stand against a door, the back of your head, shoulders and heels pressed back against the door.

You should massage your hair and scalp, and after washing use an astringent. But keep on brushing at night. Dry it in the sun and use the juice of one lemon in clear water to rinse your hair; a final rinse of clear water.

Defense Tricks Must Be Taken Early in Play

By P. Hal Sims

OPENING away from a king into a small bid suit against a declarer's bid suit is based on the following theory: The declarer will never believe that you would make such a lead, and fearing that your lead is a warning not to repeat the bid, he will be forced to play the suit early in the game, thus giving you a chance to establish your suit.

In all close hands the defense must arrange to cash their tricks before the declarer realizes that he cannot make his contract unless he takes an unnecessary finesse.

Therefore, South ducked the club lead, playing an encouraging six-spot. West either didn't pause to size up the situation or else was unwilling to go down two tricks redoubled (if the heart finesse fails, West will go down an extra trick), for he led a small spade from dummy, going up with the king in his own hand. North won with the ace and obediently returned a club. Result: North and South took two clubs and two spades, setting the contract one trick.

THE opening lead was the jack of clubs. South must hold off this trick, allowing West to win with the king in dummy. The fact that West passed three clubs, doubled, seems to indicate strongly that he holds three clubs; therefore, North has only two. North presumably holds the re-entries in trumps. He must be permitted to come through clubs once more before West realizes that the only way of making his contract is to take the heart finesse.

BILL POWELL BUILDS A HOUSE

BILL POWELL... plays the organ.

By H. H. Niemeyer
HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 17.

IT'S quite a step from playing juvenile leads in a Kansas City stock company at $40 a week to a $240,000 bungalow in, or at least a sort of child Blackstone. When he got up to good old Central High School he was looked upon as a wonderful orator and that, probably naturally, got him part of the dramatic club's presentation of "The Rivals." William was the heart interest.

Then and there he discovered that he had been wasting his time aiming at the law. It was the Stage that was calling all the time and he began dropping guarded hints around the home fires of his flaming passion to become an actor—hints which fell upon unhearing, or at least entirely unsympathetic ears.

Meanwhile, in school—typical of the lawyer—he entered objections to all established tenets which had been planted as milestones along the charted pathway which was to lead him to the great halls of corporate delicti and habes corpus. However, somehow, the way was cleared for him to plunge headlong into his law schooling at Kansas University.

He never made it though. He journeyed to Lawrence, took a look or two around the campus and then sneaked back to Kansas City. It was not only the stage that called him back. Love played a part in it for it was his custom to fall in love

There are nine bathrooms—with a telephone and a radio in each. Bill is going musical these days and anywhere he wants to take a shower when he wanders around his new home his aptitude for singing in the bath tub will meet with encouragement.

There are garages for 12 cars. Mr. Powell only has three but people are likely to drop in and then, you know, there are the servants: Servants? Well the number hasn't been determined yet but Bill will be prepared. The servant's quarters consist of eight rooms with a full quota of private baths, also.

And then there is the swimming pool, a modest marble structure such as Cecil B. DeMille, the swimming pool expert, in his wildest moments, never put into a Roman film.

To top all these little things off Powell made a trip to the Fair in Chicago last summer, took in the buildings devoted to the latest electrical gadgets and things like that for modern homes and ordered them ALL into his house. Didn't just pick some novelty here and there. Afraid he might miss something so he signed a blanket order for everything. Now the architect is trying to fit 'em all in.

Powell doesn't know when he acquired ideas like these. He hasn't played in many place sets around the studio lots. Mostly courtrooms and pent houses but he thinks he'll feel at home just as he does when he's in a picture which calls for a courtroom.

For Bill had the legal bug injected into his life in his cradle days. His father determined that little Willie was to become a great lawyer. His mother believed it and so did Willie and he became a sort of child Blackstone. When he got up to good old Central High School he was looked upon as a wonderful orator and that, probably naturally, got him part of the dramatic club's presentation of "The Rivals." William was the heart interest.

Then and there he discovered that he had been wasting his time aiming at the law. It was the Stage that was calling all the time and he began dropping guarded hints around the home fires of his flaming passion to become an actor—hints which fell upon unhearing, or at least entirely unsympathetic ears.

Powell's modest little bungalow of 38 rooms with a Roman swimming pool in the foreground.

pretty often—"has never gotten over it" was one of Carole Lombard's complaints. Usually it was with the different leading ladies in the school plays but, finally, in one of the dramatic offerings he fell hard.

"I didn't have the patience to wait until I got through K. U.," Powell explained. "That would have meant at least four years and then three more of law so I decided to become an actor, make a lot of money, and marry the girl."

He got part of his hope. He became an actor but he didn't make a lot of money right then AND he didn't marry the girl.

ON the stage he played every thing but a lawyer—the stool pigeon, "English Eddie" Griggs in "Within the Law," a quartet with four different parts to do in "The Neer Do Well" and so on. Generally he was a villain and thrived on hisses from the family circle. He possessed the finest crop of sneers that ever frightened little children.

Even after the devious detours carried him out here to Hollywood he continued to frighten little boys and girls through his professional mask of skulduggery. Even here he began the same way and stuck to it until one thoughtless, or thoughtless, film director made a man of William Powell. He, in an unguarded moment, permitted one of his palace-building friends to play the part of a lawyer.

Powell has been a lawyer ever since only alternating, now and again, to dispel the tedium, by playing detective in such admirable screen fare as "The Thin Man" and his success as a gentleman before the bar is noted in his progress. Bigger courtrooms as his career progresses, bigger cases to handle, more beautiful women to wrest from the snare of scandal.

His early training in the law, or at least his nods in that direction, have come in handy enough but Bill, who had not been in a real courtroom for many years, decided that he better brush up on the way ahead. "You don't make that a reason for trying to cling to established things in the year ahead. If this is the date of your birth, changes are due. Make them wisely in partnerships, legal affairs and home conditions as well as mental. You have a year that can be good financially after Feb. 24. Danger: Jan. 19-April 6, and June 20-Sept. 6."

Tomorrow. Don't jump into more trouble; not the best time to make sudden decisions. (Copyright, 1934.)

For Friday, Oct. 19. Get some exercise inside the skull, too; and this is a good day for it, especially in the morning and early afternoon. Do business. Buy and sell wisely. Then combine judgment with feelings if called upon to make decisions.

Hollywood Diet To Reduce Has Doctor's Favor

IN spite of skepticism and occasional professional jeers, the so-called Hollywood diet actually works in practice for reducing weight. Every time I have printed this diet I have received many letters and personal communications from people who have tried it and found it successful. ## Puddle Muddle Animals Have Their Pictures Taken

By Mary Graham Bonner

"WE never sent word at all, and here they all are," thought Willy Nilly. The planes were landing every possible place they could find around Puddle Muddle, and men with cameras were taking pictures of Jerry and Freddy and all the Puddle Muddlers.

"Let me have my picture taken!" crowed Top Notch, the rooster, who took a quick look into his little mirror to see that he was at his best before posing.

They couldn't understand Top Notch's crowing words, but they were only too ready to take his picture. They took pictures of Willy Nilly's house, of the two flyers standing with Honey and Jelly Bear and the cubs. They took a photograph of the ducks' pond, and the ducks waddled hurriedly into it so they'd be in the picture.

"Why all the excitement?" asked Willy Nilly of one photographer. "Don't you know about Jerry and Freddy? They've been making speed records and they were about to make the greatest record of all when the fog made them lose their way and they had to slow down."

"We're taking their pictures for the newspapers, and we want to know all about this place, and about you and these animals."

"How did you ever find them here?" asked Willy Nilly. "As soon as the fog lifted their plane was sighted. Don't you know

FOR some reason the women are knitting again. Having won the last war with front line sweaters, they are back again with the needles going like windshield wipers in the Tropics.

Fads like that seem to rattle on cycles. Grandma was a terrific knitter and old knit comforters out of dropped stitches she caught on the second bounce.

The knitting today is on a larger scale and much more complicated. The wife is banging away with her dainty crows on a gadget that may turn out to be anything, but is sure to be something. It's gotten past the overcoat and pillow case stage, and we suspect it is going to be an all-weather top for the six-car garage. Whatever it is, we are certain it is going to be operated on pulleys and rolled up when it rains.

That's knitting of the new school. The ladies have learned faster stitches and can bat out a six-by-twelve parlor rug without dislocating the elbows or oiling the wrists. When a chunk of crocheting is all over the living room, fills the foyer and overlaps the kitchen, you've got a right to worry about what it is going to be when it is finished. Some of the gals are determined to make Barnum's main tent look like a roadside frankfurter stand.

It's real work, too, and ain't like washing dishes with a promise and a lick. Even the patterns look like the blue prints for the union railroad depot.

ROSEGRANT FREED ON $30,000 BOND PENDING APPEAL

Convicted Kidnap of Dr. Isaac D. Kelley Is Released After Seven Months in Jail.

NO OBJECTION BY STATE TO SURETY

Prosecutor Ignores Prof-ferred Hand — Defense Counsel Has Year to Perfect His Case.

Angus Rosegrant, convicted kidnap of Dr. Isaac D. Kelley who has been held in St. Louis County Jail for seven months, walked out of the courthouse shortly before noon today surrounded by relatives, after furnishing a $30,000 appeal bond.

He will be at liberty on bond until the state supreme court rules on his appeal. His attorney, Thomas J. Rowe Jr., has a year from today to perfect the appeal, which will be taken under consideration of the supreme court.

Associate Prosecuting Attorney J. Edgar Jones indicated to Judge Nolte this morning that the state had no contention to make to qualifications of Rosegrant's bond, and finally signed Rosegrant's bond and the formalities were completed by 11:15 a. m. Rosegrant, looking tired and worn, was then escorted from the courtroom, where he signed the bond.

Wolfe Ignored Hand.
He took his seat across from the judge while Rowe completed the proceedings. Rowe then turned and addressed his client, "Come on—let's go." Smiling, Rosegrant reached across the table to extend his hand to the prosecutor's wife, who ignored it, and turned away.

Rosegrant then left the courtroom, pausing to greet relatives in the hallway. After a few minutes he went to the sheriff's office and his property in safe keeping there, then went to his cell, where he gathered up his clothing.

So long, fellows," he called over his shoulder as he left. The prisoners chorused good-byes. Rosegrant, surrounded by relatives, left the building, going to a restaurant where the party had luncheon before going home.

Signers of the bond were his mother, Mrs. Teresa Rosegrant, 1234 Lucas and Hunt road; Joseph and his wife, Pauline, of the same address; Vincent Rosegrant, a brother, and Mrs. Virginia Rosegrant, 7301 Lindell boulevard; and Frank E. G. Smith and Mrs. Genevieve Smith, 7254 St. Andrews near Normandy.

In Jail Since March 20.
Rosegrant had been a prisoner in St. Louis County Jail since last March 20, when he surrendered on a $100,000 cash indictment returned March 13. He was indicted on a charge of kidnap of Dr. Isaac D. Kelley in the case on Feb. 7 on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Lewis, but was released on $100,000 bond the following day. The bond was canceled with his surrender March 20.

On March 25, Rosegrant's application for release on a writ of habeas corpus was denied by Circuit Judge McElhinney after the state produced testimony of important witnesses against Rosegrant. The "proof" was evident from the presumption great.

Text of the Law on Bail.
In resisting Rosegrant's application for bail submitted last Saturday to Judge Nolte following his arrest in the Kelley case on March 13, the state based its contention on the terms of Section 3748, Revised Statutes of 1929, which follows:

In all cases where an appeal from a judgment in a criminal cause, or where the defendant is under sentence of death or imprisonment in the penitentiary for life, the court or officer authorized to order a stay of proceedings may allow a writ of habeas corpus, to bring the defendant before the court, to let him to bail upon a recognizance, with sufficient sureties, to be approved by such court or officer.

Opposing Arguments.
While contended before Judge Nolte that the word "may" used in the statute indicated that approval of bail in such cases as Rosegrant's was discretionary with the court, the state contended that the legislature had intended that it be mandatory it would have been the word "shall" instead.

Rosegrant, however, Rowe
